PA NEWC OBSERVES

Mother Nature has been most lavish this year in the production of fruits and vegetables, and it is hoped
by the directors of the Almira Home
that the housewives of the city will be most generous in putting aside
canned goods for the donation
day, Wednesday, August 17. There is plenty of empty jars at the home and those desiring to fill some for the home may get them by calling at the home on East Washington street.

Announcement from Greenville that paving on the road from Jamestown to the Pymatuning dam is completed, will probably result in a much larger number of New Castle
and Lawrence County people making a trip to the dam in the future. The trip from Jamestown to the dam has heretofore always been a rather unenjoyable one for motorists.

It was fortunate from a safety standpoint that the wide repaved
thoroughfare near Scotland Lane
was completed before the carnival exhibition of the past week. Hundreds of people used the highway
as a sidewalk, and if the old narrow macadam had still been in use, there would have been abundant congestion of traffic and probably some serious accidents.

Pa Newc is informed that the past few weeks have witnessed a large increase in the demand for ice
in this community.

Workmen engaged in resurfacing
Cedar street in the seventh ward are making a thorough job of the task. The street has been resurfaced all the way from Mahoning avenue to Cherry street.

Prospective drivers of autos who will be required to take the tests for a driver's license here will get a lot of benefit in the improvement made by the city in resurfacing Sampson street. That street, where auto driver tests have been made for several years, has been a trial to many veteran drivers, let alone a beginner. The new surface will make driving much easier.

The South Side district was quite musical on Saturday evening, orchestra being in action at several of the cafes. There seem to be a large audience enjoying the music from the sidewalks as well as from inside the door.

Here's the latest in touring. Pa
Newc noted a bantam auto going through the city on Sunday with a trailer attached.

City Forester Owen P. Fox is getting some fine results in the New Castle public square. But it takes a lot of work. Pa Newc noted the city man at work on Saturday evening, watering the trees and shrubs.

Need of rain is much in evidence
in Lawrence county at the present time. The corn fields are plenty of evidence of this. Leaves are curling up, due to lack of sufficient moisture, apparently.

It has been a long time since the streams in this area have been at such low stage. Many of the smaller streams look like little brooks at the present time. Even the Allegheny, some distance east of this district, looks like a very small river.

ure authority here, believes the

Started Work On News 52 Years Ago Today

Fifty two years ago today July 30, 1882, a new printer's devil started to work for The New Castle
News. He knew more about harvesting wheat than he did about gal-lers and proofs, more about herding cows than about setting heads.
It wasn't much of a job but it was
a start in the newspaper game.
From that he went on to learn his trade, to become shop foreman, then manager and later president of the News and he is still the president.

Today that same youngster, now
President Fred L. Rentz, is receiv-

ployees and his friends upon the completion of more than a half century with The News. The little plant he started with has develop-due largely to his leadership and acumen.

There is one thing in common be-

ago. He worked a full day then and he is working a full day today.

HARRISBURG, July 30.—Another special session of the legislature this year will boost the state's expenditure for law making during the present administration to beyond $5,000,- 000, figures showed today.

The cost of the 1931 and 1933 regular sessions and the three previous special sessions called by Gov. Gifford Pinchot during his second term has been in excess of $4,750,000 according to figures in the budget and fiscal office.

A fourth special sessions this month will add approximately $350,- 000 to the total cost.

George W. Stewart, aged 74, 710
McClintock avenue, was killed at 3:45 Sunday afternoon near the New Castle Box works when he was struck by an eastbound freight train of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. Stewart was walking along the track toward New Castle when the train approached, the engineer blew the whistle, but Mr. Stewart, being deaf, did not hear it and he was struck by the engine and his body badly mangled.

Coroner Potter, after an investigation pronounced death as accidental.
Mr. Stewart was born at West Sunbury, April 16, 1860, and had lived in New Castle the past ten years.

He is survived by seven children:

DIVORCE CASE OF MRS. DALL TO BE HEARD

Case Of Daughter Of President And Mrs. Roosevelt Before Nevada Court

(International News Service)
RENO, Nev., July 30.—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, was to go to Minden, 45 miles from here, today to file suit to divorce Curtis B.
Dall, New York broker, Attorney
Samuel Platt announced.

The suit, expected to be heard today, will charge "extreme cruelty" and "incompatibility," according to Platt, who said he would ask Judge Clark J. Guild for a prompt hearing.

Platt said that all property rights and the custody of "Sister" and "Buddy," the two Dall children, had been settled by agreement, terms of which he said would remain undisclosed at present.

Mrs. Dall's mother, Mrs. Roosevelt, who is in San Francisco now, will not be present at the divorce
hearing.

The divorce is being handled similarly to that of Mrs. Dall's brother, Elliott Roosevelt, in 1933, according to Platt, who also handled that case.
Although Judge Guild is known to be a supporter of the divorce, it was expected that the case today would be tried behind closed doors.

INCRIMINATING FACTS REVEALED

(International News Service)
STUEBENVILLE, O., July 30.—
Stuebenville's "phantom killer," who spread a reign of terror through steel mills here by shooting three men to death and wounding a fourth without any apparent motive, was in custody of police today, climaxing weeks of excited search.

County Prosecutor Arthur Hooper announced that he would call a special session of the Jefferson Co.
grand jury tomorrow in an attempt to obtain a first degree murder indictment against the suspect, David Dascario alias Dasco, 49 year old Italian.

Dascario worked at the steel mill which he allegedly terrorized.
He denied that he was the man who had ambushed and slain the three employes and shot the fourth.
Police charged, however, that his description tallied perfectly with that of the phantom gunman.

Dascario was further incriminat-

New Chancellor Of Austria Sees War Clouds Pass

Austrian Cabinet Striving For Peace Is Message
From Schuschnigg

NO POSSIBILITY FOR WAR IS SEEN

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, July 30.—"War clouds have passed so far as Austria is concerned," Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, the new Austrian chancellor, declared through an official of the foreign office today in a telephonic interview with the Evening Star.

The official, Dr. Kleinwachter, talked under the instructions of Chancellor Schuschnigg, the Star declared.

"There is absolute unity among the cabinet members who are driving toward one end—peace," he said.

See No Possibility Of War
"It is absolutely inaccurate to say there is rivalry between the chancellor and Starhemberg. They have been closely associated for months.
Sensational stories that the Heimwehr demanded Starhemberg as chancellor are most silly.

"We see no possibility of war now.
Forget all this talk of war, think only of peace for Austria.

"The Nazis obviously are no longer to be feared.

"I cannot say what the future holds for Von Papen. The cabinet has not decided yet."

Home Damaged By Fire Sunday

Loss Of $1,300 Sustained In Blaze At Cunningham Avenue Home

FIRE STARTS IN CLOTHES CLOSET

Fire, starting from undetermined causes, damaged the home of Cleve Williams, 314 Cunningham avenue, to the extent of $1,300 Sunday morning at 9:05. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Firemen from central and No. 4 departments were summoned to the scene of the blaze by an alarm from box 45. They found the upper part of the home blazing merrily and battled the fire for an hour and a half before it was finally extinguished.

The fire started in a clothes closet on the third floor of the home, which had not been opened for several days, and spread around under the roof and down into the second floor. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have resulted in some garments stored in the closet.

were enroute to Rapid City, S. D., by automobile today to supervise carpentering there, while work-

FRANCE OPPOSES
HIS ACCEPTANCE

(International News Service)
VIENNA, July 30.—The terms upon which the Austrian government is willing to accept Col. Franz von Papen as German minister to Austria with a special mission to bring about peaceful relations between the two countries, were learned from an authoritative source today.

First, Austria will insist that the Austrian Nazi Legion in Germany be disbanded.

Second, political organizations of Austrian Nazis in Germany must be dissolved.

Third, smuggling of arms, munitions and propaganda literature from Germany into Austria must cease.

Fourth, broadcasting from Germany of Nazi propaganda against the Austrian government must be stopped.

It was officially announced that the government had not yet agreed to accept von Papen, but a high of-an agreement was expected shortly.

grim and forbidding doors a mili-

VIENNA, July 30.—Nazi Terrorists again challenged
the government of Austria
today within two hours after the appointment of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of education, as the new chancellor was announced.
Dr. Schuschnigg was appointed chancellor at 1:45 o'clock this morning. His appointment confirmed exclusive International News Service
dispatches of last Friday.

Seek To Rescue Dr. Rintel
At 8 o'clock forty daring Nazis staged a bold raid on the Municipal hospital and forcibly attempted to rescue Dr. Anton Rintel, who has been under arrest since last Wednesday as the alleged arch-con-spirator of the ill-fated Nazi putsch.

The raid failed and the forty were carted off to jail, where they joined 144 other Nazis rounded up last Wednesday when the Nazis launched their coup which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and plunged the entire nation into bloody civil warfare.

What to do with these Nazis constituted probably the gravest problem faced by the new ministry.

Frustrated By Nurse
Today's raid was frustrated by a nurse who failed to be cowed by the menacing guns of the invaders.
The forty Nazis, all in civilian clothes, stormed the hospital during the quiet early morning hours when only a sleep vigilance prevailed.
They made their way to the ward

Coast Strike Nearing End

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Eight thousand longshoremen in Pacific coast ports from Mexico to Canada
will return to work tomorrow, end-

which has paralyzed coast shipping.

International Longshoremen's association reached this decision at a meeting here last night.

Several thousand seamen, engineers, stewards and other marine workers were likewise expected to return to work with the longshoremen. They had struck in sympathy with the longshoremen when the walkout was called May 9.

He's been on the job for a rather long time, fifty two years today,
over half a century on the job, so it looks like he's going to stay. He started in as a country kid, with his feet lacking stockings and shoes,
and he's kept on the job since the day he began, giving people the news. The plant he saw on the day
he began was primitive, not much for size, but the plant just now is a modern one, a journalist's idea of a prize. And so today we can wave hello, and wish him a few years more of working and being and getting new friends, the weather's
still hot, ninety four.

Case Of Daughter Of President And Mrs. Roosevelt Before Nevada Court

(International News Service)
RENO, Nev., July 30.—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, was to go to Minden, 45 miles from here, today to file suit to divorce Curtis B. Dall, New York broker, Attorney Samuel Platt announced.

The suit, expected to be heard today also, will charge "extreme cruelty" and "incompatibility," according to Platt, who said he would ask Judge Clark J. Guild for a prompt hearing.

Platt said that all property rights and the custody of "Stella" and "Buzzie," the two Dall children, had been settled by agreement, terms of which he said would remain undisclosed at present.

Mrs. Dall's mother, Mrs. Roosevelt, who is in San Francisco now, will not be present at the divorce hearing.

The divorce is being handled similarly to that of Mrs. Dall's brother, Elliott Roosevelt, in 1933, according to Platt, who also handled that case.

Although Judge Guild is known to frown upon such proceedings it was expected that the case today would be tried behind closed doors.

KEARNEY, Neb., July 30.—Maj. William E. Kepner, Capt. A. W. Stevens and Capt. Orvil Anderson were enroute to Rapid City, S. D., by automobile today to supervise camp-breaking there, while workmen packed the remains of the wrecked stratosphere flight gondola for shipment to Dayton, O.

The three army officers, who reached a height of 57,000 feet before the huge balloon was ripped by cross winds and began a hasty descent which was climaxed by parachute jumps by the trio, will supervise the breaking of the take-off camp at Rapid City. and then, it is expected, will return to Washington to make a complete report to Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the army air corps.

All of the valuable scientific instruments packed into the tiny gondola were destroyed when the metal ball and what was left of the huge balloon crashed near Loomis, Neb. Only the spectograph, attached to a parachute and hurled overboard, was saved.

While the officers and the committee of investigators refused to comment, it was indicated that it will be impossible to glean any information from the fragments of scientific paraphernalia within the crushed metal gondola. Major Kepner and his aids beavled this fact as they minimized their own narrow escape.

CHALLENGE TO NEW CHANCELLOR

Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, New Chancellor, Facing Difficult Situation

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
VIENNA, July 30.—Behind grim and forbidding doors a military court today began the trial of thirty Nazis accused of direct complicity in the slaying of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and the man who actually fired the shot.

By ALFRED TYNAUER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, July 30.—Nazi Terrorists again challenged the government of Austria today within two hours after the appointment of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of education, as the new chancellor was announced.

Dr. Schuschnigg was appointed chancellor at 1:45 o'clock this morning. His appointment confirmed exclusive International News Service dispatches of last Friday.

Seek To Rescue Dr. Rintelen

At 8 o'clock forty daring Nazis staged a bold raid on the Municipal hospital and forcibly attempted to rescue Dr. Anton Rintelen, who has been under arrest since last Wednesday as the alleged arch-conspirator of the ill-fated Nazi putsch. The raid failed and the forty were carted off to jail, where they joined 144 other Nazis rounded up last Wednesday when the Nazis launched their coup which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and plunged the entire nation into bloody civil warfare.

What to do with these Nazis constituted probably the gravest problem faced by the new ministry.

Frustrated By Nurse

Today's raid was frustrated by a nurse who failed to be cowed by the menacing guns of the invaders. The forty Nazis, all in civilian clothes, stormed the hospital during the quiet early morning hours when only a sleepy vigilance prevailed. They made their way to the ward

Coast Strike Nearing End

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Eight thousand longshoremen in Pacific coast ports from Mexico to Canada will return to work tomorrow, ending the disastrous 82-day strike which has paralyzed coast shipping. The executive committee of the International Longshoremen's association reached this decision at a meeting here last night.

Several thousand seamen, engineers, stewards and other marine workers were likewise expected to return to work with the longshoremen. They had struck in sympathy with the longshoremen when the walkout was called May 9.

Arthur Mometer

He's been on the job for a rather long time, fifty two years today, over half a century on the job, so it looks like he's going to stay. He started in as a country kid, with his feet lacking stockings and shoes, and he's kept on the job since the day he began, giving people the news. The plant he saw on the day he began was primitive, not much for size, but the plant just now is a modern one, a journalist's idea of a prize. And so today we can wave hello, and wish him of years many more, of working and living and getting new friends, the weather's still hot, ninety four.

FRANCE OPPOSES HIS ACCEPTANCE

(International News Service)
VIENNA, July 30.—The terms upon which the Austrian government is willing to accept Col. Franz von Papen as German minister to Austria with a special mission to bring about peaceful relations between the two countries, were learned from an authoritative source today.

First, Austria will insist that the Austrian Nazi Legion in Germany be disbanded.

Second, political organizations of Austrian Nazis in Germany must be dissolved.

Third, smuggling of arms, munitions and propaganda literature from Germany into Austria must cease.

Fourth, broadcasting from Germany of Nazi propaganda against the Austrian government must be stopped.

It was officially announced that the government had not yet agreed to accept von Papen, but a high official of the chancellery said that an agreement was expected shortly.

PARIS, July 30.—French opposition to the selection by Chancellor Hitler of Vice-Chancellor von Papen as special German minister to Austria increased today and it is not unlikely that the foreign office will make informal suggestions to Vienna that he be declared unacceptable.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Mother Nature has been most lavish this year in the production of fruits and vegetables, and it is hoped
by the directors of the Almira Home
that the housewives of the city will be most generous in putting aside
day, Wednesday, August 17. There are plenty of empty jars at the home and those desiring to fill some for
the home may get them by calling
at the home on East Washington street.

Announcement from Greenville that paving on the road from Jamestown to the Pymatuning dam is completed, will probably result in a much larger number of New Castle
and Lawrence County people making a trip to the dam in the future.
The trip from Jamestown to the dam has heretofore always been a rather unenjoyable one for motorists.

It was fortunate from a safety standpoint that the wide repaved
thoroughfare near Scotland Lane
was completed before the carnival
exhibition of the past week. Hundreds of people used the highway
as a sidewalk, and if the old narrow macadam had still been in use, there
would have been abundant congestion of traffic, and probably some serious accidents.

Pa Newc is informed that the
past few weeks have witnessed a large increase in the demand for ice
in this community.

Workmen engaged in resurfacing
Cedar street in the seventh ward
are making a thorough job of the task. The street has been resurfaced all the way from Mahoning avenue to Cherry street.

Prospective drivers of autos who
a driver's license here will get a lot of benefit in the improvement being made by the city in resurfacing Sampson street. That street, where auto driver tests have been made for several years, has been a trial to a beginner. The new surface will make driving much easier.

The South Side district was quite musical on Saturday evening, orchestras being in action at several of the cafes. There seemed to be a large audience enjoying the music
from the sidewalks as well as from inside the door.

Here's the latest in touring. Pa
Newc noted a bantam auto going through the city on Sunday with a trailer attached.

City Forester Owen P. Fox is getting some fine results in the New Castle public square. But it takes a lot of work. Pa Newc noted the city man at work on Saturday evening, watering the trees and shrubs.

Need of rain is much in evidence
in Lawrence county at the present
time. The corn fields are plenty of evidence of this. Leaves are curling up, due to lack of sufficient
moisture, apparently.

streams in this area have been at such low stage. Many of the smaller streams look like little brooks at
the present time. Even the Allegheny, some distance east of this district, looks like a very small river.

Owen Peiffer Fox, noted nature authority here, believes the

Started Work On News 52 Years Ago Today

Fifty two years ago today July 30, 1882, a new printer's devil started to work for The New Castle
News. He knew more about harvesting wheat than he did about galleys and proofs, more about herding cows than about setting heads.
It wasn't much of a job but it was
a start in the newspaper game.
From that he went on to learn his
trade, to become shop foreman, then
manager and later president of the

President Fred L. Rentz, is receiving the congratulations of his employes and his friends upon the completion of more than a half century with The News. The little plant he started with has developed into a modern newspaper plant due largely to his leadership and acumen.
There is one thing in common between today and that day 52 years ago. He worked a full day then and

MANY "LAME DUCKS" IF SPECIAL SESSION OCCURS

HARRISBURG, July 30.—Another special session of the legislature this year will boost the state's expenditure for law
making during the present administration to beyond $5,000,- 000, figures showed today.

The cost of the 1931 and 1933 regular sessions and the three previous special sessions called by Gov. Gifford Pinchot during his second term
has been in excess of $4,750,000 ac-

fiscal offices.

STUEBENVILLE, O., July 30.—
Stuebenville's "phantom killer" who spread a reign of terror throughout a section of Ohio by shooting three men to death and wounding a fourth
without any apparent motive, was in custody of police today, climaxing

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 30.—With busistrike of 800 stock handlers, it was rumored here today that Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the Federal conciliators, who have been attempting to effect a settle-attempt to base a fresh mediation at-

Extreme precautionary measures

CHALLENGE TO NEW CHANCELLOR

Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, New

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
VIENNA, July 30.—Behind grim and forbidding doors a military court today began the trial of thirty Nazis accused of direct complicity in the slaying of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and the man who actually fired the shot.

VIENNA, July 30.—Nazi
Terrorists again challenged
the government of Austria
today within two hours after the appointment of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of education, as the new chancellor was announced.
Dr. Schuschnigg was appointed chancellor at 1:45 o'clock this morning. His appointment confirmed
exclusive International News Service
dispatches of last Friday.

Seek To Rescue Dr. Rintelen
At 8 o'clock forty daring Nazis
staged a bold raid on the Municipal hospital and forcibly attempted to rescue Dr. Anton Rintelen, who has been under arrest since last Wednesday as the alleged arch-con-
spirator of the ill-fated Nazi putsch.

The raid failed and the forty were carted off to jail, where they joined 144 other Nazis rounded up last Wednesday when the Nazis launched their coup which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and plunging the entire nation into bloody civil warfare.

What to do with these Nazis constituted probably the gravest problem faced by the new ministry.

Frustrated By Nurse
Today's raid was frustrated by a nurse who failed to be cowed by the menacing guns of the invaders.

The forty Nazis, all in civilian
clothes, stormed the hospital during
the quiet early morning hours when only a sleepy vigilance prevailed.
They found their way to the ward

Coast Strike Nearing End

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Eight
thousand longshoremen in Pacific coast ports from Mexico to Canada
will return to work tomorrow, ending the disastrous 82-day strike
which has paralyzed coast shipping.
The executive committee of the International Longshoremen's association reached this decision at a meeting here last night.
Several thousand seamen, engineers, stewards and other marine workers were likewise expected to return to work with the longshore-
men. They had struck in sympathy with the longshoremen when the
walkout was called May 9.

He's been on the job for a rather
long time, fifty two years today,
over half a century, on the job, so
it looks like he's going to stay. He started in as a country kid, with
his feet lacking stockings and shoes,
and he's kept on the job since the
day he began, giving people the news. The plant he saw on the day
he began was primitive, not much
for size, but the plant just now is
a modern one, a journalist's idea of a prize. And so today we can wave hello, and wish him of years many more, of working and living and getting new friends, the weather's
still hot, ninety four.

FUNERAL FOR MARIE DRESSLER ON TUESDAY

Simple Service Being Arranged

Only Most Intimate Friends Will Be In Attendance At Service

ACTRESS DIED ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—While the world mourned, friends of Marie Dressler, "grand old trouper," prepared today to conduct private funeral services for her tomorrow in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Miss Dressler died Saturday afternoon at the home of friends in Santa Barbara, last of a long and gallant fight against a lingering illness.

Simple Service
Only a small group of Miss Dressler's most intimate friends from the social and professional world will witness the simple services to be conducted by the Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of filmdom's famous little church around the corner.

During the services Jeanette MacDonald of the screen, will sing, "Abide With Me," Miss Dressler's favorite hymn.

Closing the eulogy, Rev. Dodd will read Miss Dressler's favorite poem by Keith. It concludes: "Perhaps she learned the truth when time was young; And comes again with heavenly songs of mirth; And leaves her gods and goddesses alone To live with us a little while on earth."

To Be Placed On Crypt
This had been engraved upon a silver plate as a gift to Miss Dressler, and she carried it in her purse wherever she went. It is to be placed upon the crypt in which interment is to be made at Forest Lawn.

Miss Dressler's body was brought to Hollywood yesterday from Santa Barbara. Accompanying it were the servants, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cox, who had cared for the actress for more than 25 years.

The body of the beloved actress lies at a mortuary in a simple bronze casket lined with white velvet. She is to be buried in her favorite dress, a plum-colored tulle afternoon gown.

In respect to Miss Dressler's wishes, the casket is to remain sealed and is not to be placed upon public view.

MANY "LAME DUCKS" IF SESSION OCCURS

$500 salary for special sessions and transportation for each week of the session printing of bills and journals will cost roughly about $30,000. Incidental expenditures will add several more thousand dollars.

It was probable that more "lame ducks" will sit in the house during the next special session than during any previous extraordinary session in the history of the state. There have been 16 other special sessions since 1926, four of them since 1932.

More than one fourth of the house membership is not running for reelection either because of voluntary retirement or defeat at the primary. Of the 62 "lame duck" members, 24 are Republicans, and 13 Democrats who did not seek reelection at the primary sixteen others are Republicans and nine are Democrats defeated at the May 15 election.

NAZI TERRORISTS SEEK TO RELEASE DR. A. RINTELEN

EDITOR'S NOTE—Conflicting reports regarding Rintelen have been prevalent ever since his arrest. It was twice reported in official circles that he had died of his wounds. Today's dispatches, however, make it apparent that he is still alive.

A lone nurse was on duty in Dr. Rintelen's room. Unfrightened by the Nazis she slipped out and gave an alarm which summoned police.

Hearing the alarm the Nazis attempted to flee but were trapped in the courtyard of the hospital by truckloads of police who dashed to the hospital as soon as the alarm was sounded.

The Nazi raiders, police revealed, were conveyed by a secret code, broadcast by means of handbills. The words "keep ready with handbags" appearing on the handbills, the police asserted, was the key to the Nazis to assemble for the raid.

Pressing Problems
The more pressing immediate problem facing the government, now that guerrilla warfare in the provinces seems to be gradually dying out, was the punishment that is to be meted out to the Nazi terrorists, all too evidently uncowed by the measures the government thus far has invoked against them.

It was the execution of one terrorist that precipitated the putsch in which Dr. Rintelen was murdered. The possibility that new bloodshed and terror might follow too stringent punishment of the Nazis under arrest was causing the new cabinet grave concern.

Start Trials
After announcing that the trial of 30 of the Nazis captured after the raid in the chancellery in which Dr. Rintelen was slain, would be postponed until tomorrow, the government suddenly decided to begin the trial today. A military court, presided over by General Albert Oberwager, began the trial of the 30 men with not only the fate of the Nazis but, perhaps, the fate of Austria hanging on the verdict of the court.

The police claimed that Otto Panetta, the soldier, had confessed that he fired the shots that killed Chancellor Dollfuss. Panetta, it was expected, will be turned over to the military courts for trial tomorrow with the others.

Panetta's wife today appealed to the military court, claiming that her husband is accused of shooting down, for a fair trial for her husband.

"I cannot believe he is a murderer," Mrs. Panetta said. "He would not hurt a fly."

"If my husband must die," Frau Panetta declared, "I hope he will be shot as a soldier. If only I could hand him a revolver before the execution."

One of the questions uppermost in the minds of most observers here was the probable attitude of the new cabinet toward the restoration of the Hapsburgs to the Austrian throne. Dr. Schuschnigg is known to have strong monarchistic leanings, as has several other members of the cabinet.

Follow Dollfuss Policies
It was believed that whatever their personal belief, however, the new ministers would adopt the same policy as that followed by Dollfuss who believed that the present was not an opportune time for bringing Archduke Otto to the throne.

Nevertheless orders were issued today for the evacuation of Laaxenburg castle, near Vienna, a former residence of the imperial family. It is to be thoroughly renovated, and some believed this was being done in anticipation of the return of the Hapsburgs.

Although reports were meagre and the situation accordingly somewhat obscure, it was believed that government troops rapidly were gaining the upper hand in the provincial centers, notably Styria and Carinthia, where bitter fighting has been in progress since Wednesday. The Nazi resistance had not entirely collapsed, but government troops were "mopping up," according to most reliable reports reaching here and government officials said that complete order had been restored except in a few isolated spots.

How many have been killed in almost a week of civil war still was not known, and probably never will be completely revealed. The estimates of the dead ran all the way from 500 to 1,000. Conservative estimators believed the death list was certain to approach the latter figure.

Except for the abortive raid on the hospital, Vienna was quiet throughout the night and the early part of the day, 80 were arrested on the streets when they were unable to establish their identity or their reasons for being abroad at night.

Cardinal Innitzer celebrated a requiem mass at St. Stephens cathedral for the soul of the late Chancellor Dollfuss.

Vandergrift Man Severely Wounded In "Jungle" Fight

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 30.—Stabbed about his body and neck, David Jones, 38, Vandergrift, lay in dying condition today in Allegheny Valley hospital, Tarentum, as State police here hunted an apparently demented "man with white hair" as his assailant.

Flashing a knife as Jones tried to drive the intruder from a boxcar in the "jungle" between Vandergrift and Pine Run, the "ripper" drove it into the left side of Jones' throat, through the center of his abdomen and into his back.

Bleeding profusely from the gaping wounds, Jones crawled half a mile to a house, scrawling a note on cigarette paper describing his assailant as a "man with white hair," dropping it along a railroad track and then, pulling himself on. Alarmed at loss of blood, he was hurried to the hospital.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Bratschie Funeral

Hundreds of friends attended the funeral services of Mrs. Frank Bratschie Sunday afternoon, both at the home at Princeton and at the Portersville Presbyterian church.

The officiating clergymen were Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third U. P. Church, and Rev. G. I. Gregory, a former pastor at Princeton, also the Rev. George Cheeseman, pastor of the Portersville church.

She was laid to rest in the Portersville Presbyterian cemetery; pall bearers were George Black, Carl Sereck, Paul Alford, Theodore McKee, Frew Lutz and William Kennedy.

Mrs. DeWolfe Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida DeWolfe, 604 Locust street, were held from the home Saturday afternoon. With Dr. Norris A. White of the First Methodist church officiating.

Interment was made in the Greendale cemetery, Meadville, with the Rev. C. Baldwin in charge of the regular club luncheon at The Castleton, and at the club's request.

"Until we have," he quickly spoke up after voicing his objection, "a combination of these two things, these 'brain trust' fellows won't have much weight."

The noon hour for the Rotarians was a most enlightening one, for Mr. Cochran's speech, brief but packed with interesting comment, gave the clubmen an inside look into what Americans have come to know as their most popular assembly. The make-up of both the house of representatives, in which Mr. Cochran has sat since the 70th congress, and of the senate was described.

Very early in the talk Congressman Cochran assured the club that while everyone has their jokes, the members exhibit toward one another the warmest spirit of friendship.

"It's only upon party measures that we differ," he stated. To illustrate he recalled a recent trip to the south in which he was a lone Republican among hundreds of Democrats.

There are 531 members in the Congress, Mr. Cochran reported—96 in the Senate and 435 in the House. He said the Democratic majority in the House is 200 and pointed out that because of that huge majority, "we do not have what we often believe to be well-considered legislation." He said that in majorities such as the one now existing "there are too many willing to just follow leadership."

The personal make-up of the House was described. Reference was also made to important committees. Congressman Cochran, who retired in January, has represented Mercer, Warren, Elk, Venango and Forest counties in the House for years.

President Robert A. Eckles publicly congratulated Rotarian Fred L. Rantz today upon his 52nd anniversary in business at The News.

Smith; Mrs. Gertrude McClintock and Mrs. Jessie Clever, Clarendon, Va.; Mrs. Bessie Piller, Mrs. Maw Crawford and Charles W. Smith of Washington, D. C.; and Major John A. Smith of Panama Canal zone, and five grandchildren.

All the children were in attendance at the last rites except Major Smith, who was unable to reach here.

Pallbearers were Frank Dottle, Angelo Sands, George Skunder, R. Morganti, Paul Felice and Fatsy Thomas.

Interment was made in St. Vitus cemetery.

FINE IS IMPOSED

Mrs. Roosevelt was discovered at a small downtown hotel with her traveling companion and secretary, Lorena A. Hickok. She had registered under her own name, Eleanor Roosevelt.

Tanned by the sun of Yosemite valley, where they had been camping for the past three days, the first lady was greeted by a score of reporters in the hotel breakfast room.

"No interviews," Mrs. Roosevelt smiled. "I'm still on my 'off the record' vacation."

Marconi Achieves New Triumph In Wireless Work

Navigates Yacht Into Port By Use Of Wireless From Shore

(International News Service)
SESTRI LEVANTE, Italy, July 30. Navigating his yacht Electra into port here solely by the use of wireless from the shore, Guglielmo Marconi today achieved one of the greatest triumphs since he brought the radio to the world many years ago.

The invention he put into practice today, Marconi believes, will make it possible for ships to steer an accurate course into harbors through heavy fogs and remove one of the greatest dangers to shipping. It has tremendous possibilities, the inventor declared, after he stepped ashore.

Two buoys, equipped with radio, were stationed near the entrance to the harbor as the yacht Electra, which Marconi has used in many of his recent experiments, approached the buoy sent automatic signals to the ship which, recorded them automatically upon a huge dial, making possible corrections in the yacht's course without recourse to familiar shore landmarks.

The navigator aboard the Electra was guided solely by the 60 centimeter waves sent out by the station on shore and the relayed signals from the buoys. A loud speaker amplified the signals in the chart room and at the same time they were recorded on the dial in front of the navigator.

BERLIN, July 30.—Responding to bitter Italian denunciation of Germany in connection with the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss, the German press today unleashed a vitriolic attack upon Italy.

Miss Dressler's body was brought to Hollywood yesterday from Santa Barbara. Accompanying it were the servants, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cox, who had cared for the actress for more than 25 years.

The body of the beloved actress lies at a mortuary in a simple bronze casket lined with white velvet. She is to be buried in her favorite dress, a plum-colored tulle tulle afternoon gown.

In respect to Miss Dressler's wishes, the casket is to remain sealed and is not to be placed upon public view.

$500 salary for special sessions and transportation for each week of the session printing of bills and journals will cost roughly about $30,000. Incidental expenditures will add several more thousand dollars.

It was probable that more "lame ducks" will sit in the house during the next special session than during any previous extraordinary session in the history of the state. There have been 16 other special sessions since 1775, four of them since 1926.

More than one fourth of the house membership is not running for re-election either because of voluntary retirement or defeat at the primary. Of the "lame duck" members, 24 are Republicans and 13 Democrats who did not seek re-election at the primary. Sixteen are Democrats and nine are Republicans.

NAZI TERRORISTS SEEK TO RELEASE DR. A. RINTELEN

wherein Rintelen, recovering from a self-inflicted bullet wound, was confined.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Conflicting reports regarding Rintelen have been prevalent ever since his arrest. It was twice reported in official circles that he had died of his wounds. Today's dispatches, however, make it apparent that he is still alive.

A lone nurse was on duty in Dr. Rintelen's room. Uninterrupted by the Nazis she slipped out and gave an alarm which summoned police.

Hearing the alarm the Nazis attempted to flee but were trapped in the courtyard of the hospital by truckloads of police who dashed to the hospital as soon as the alarm was sounded.

The Nazi raiders, police revealed, were conveyed by a secret code, broadcast by means of handbills.

The words "keep ready with handbills" appearing on the handbills, the police asserted, was the call to the Nazis to assemble for the raid.

Pressing Problems
The more pressing immediate problem facing the government, now that guerrilla warfare in the provinces seems to be gradually dying out, was the punishment that is to be meted out to the Nazi terrorists, all too evidently uncowed by the measures the government thus far has invoked against them.

It was the execution of one terrorist that precipitated the putsch in which Dollfuss was murdered. The possibility that new bloodshed and terror might follow too stringent punishment of the Nazis under the law was causing the new cabinet grave concern.

Start Trials
After announcing that the trial of 30 of the Nazis captured after the raid on the chancellery in which Dollfuss was slain, would be postponed until tomorrow, the government suddenly decided to begin the trial today.

A military court, presided over by General Albert Oberwager, began the trial of the 30 men with not only the fate of the Nazis, but, perhaps, the fate of Austria hanging on the verdict of the court.

Claim Confession
The police claimed that Otto Panetta, the soldier, had confessed that he fired the shots that killed Chancellor Dollfuss. Panetta, it was expected, would be turned over to the military courts for trial tomorrow with the others.

Panetta's wife today appealed to Frau Dollfuss, widow of the man her husband is accused of shooting down, for a fair trial for her husband.

"I cannot believe he is a murderer," Mrs. Panetta said. "He would not hurt a fly."

"If my husband must die," Frau Panetta declared, "I hope he will be shot as a soldier. If only I could hand him a revolver before the execution."

One of the questions uppermost in the minds of most observers here was the probable attitude of the new cabinet toward the restoration of the Hapsburgs to the Austrian throne.

Dr. Schuschnigg is known to have strong monarchistic leanings, as have several other members of the cabinet.

Follow Dollfuss Policies
It was believed that, whatever their personal belief, however, the new ministers would adopt the same policy as that followed by Dollfuss who believed that the present was not an opportune time for bringing Archduke Otto to the throne.

Nevertheless orders were issued today for the evacuation of Laaxburg castle, near Vienna, a former residence of the imperial family. It is to be thoroughly renovated and is to be believed this was being done in anticipation of the return of the Hapsburgs.

Although reports were meagre and the situation accordingly somewhat obscure, it was believed that government troops rapidly were gaining the upper hand in the provincial sectors, notably Styria and Carinthia, where bitter fighting has been in progress since Wednesday.

The N-1 resistance had not entirely collapsed, but government troops were "mopping up," according to most reliable reports reaching here and government officials said that complete order had been restored except in a few isolated places.

How many have been killed in almost a week of civil war still was not known, and probably never will be completely revealed. The estimates of the dead ran all the way from 500 to 1,000. Conservative estimators believed the death list was certain to approach the latter figure.

Except for the abortive raid on the hospital, Vienna was quiet throughout the night and the early part of the day, 30 were arrested on the streets when they were unable to establish their identity or their reasons for being abroad at night.

Cardinal Innitzer celebrated a requiem mass at St. Stephens cathedral for the soul of the late Chancellor Dollfuss.

When doctors in Wiltshire, England decided that the father of Miss Madge Browning required a blood transfusion she promptly volunteered.

Leading the assault Dr. Wirsing, managing editor of the influential Munich Nueste Nachrichten, declared it was not true that the assassins had been definitely proven to be Nazis.

Believes Hitler Regime Near End
Brother Of Sam Klaffer Returns From Stay In Czechoslovakia

Hitler is on his way out, in the opinion of Philip Klaffer, who is visiting his brother, Samuel Klaffer, of New Castle at the present. Mr. Klaffer has just returned from Uzhhorod, Czechoslovakia, where he maintains a part time residence. He is a United States citizen, but is a part owner of a milling company in Uzhhorod. Part of his time he spends at Carlsbad taking the world-famous baths.

When Mr. Klaffer left Czechoslovakia on July 14 the Austrian trouble had not yet developed, but the Czech authorities were making preparations for the difficulties which were forecast. Czechoslovakia is made up of what was once Bohemia, part of Germany, and part of Austria-Hungary. Its government follows that of the United States, President Masaryk at one time being a resident of the United States. The people are satisfied with their form of government, but intend taking no chances on Nazi interference.

"Hitler doesn't know what he wants," said Mr. Klaffer. He is disliked in Europe and the feeling in the countries surrounding Germany is that it won't be long until he is shorn of his power."

"Czechoslovakia is a wonderful country. It is a great agricultural country and has some giant industries. At Carlsbad, one finds people from every nation there to regain their health."

Mr. Klaffer maintains a residence in Canton, O., but in the past few years has spent a great deal of his time abroad. With Mrs. Klaffer he will spend some time in New Castle visiting his brother.

At a pretty summer wedding this morning at 7:30 in St. Mary's church, Miss Harriet T. Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodman of North Shennango street, became the bride of Norman F. Gorcys of Newport News, Va.

Rev. Leo Watterson officiated at the service, the young couple being attended by Miss Gertrude Donegan and John P. Daly.

The bride was attractive in a white chiffon gown, ankle length and form fitting with short ruffled sleeves. Her hat was white, of the large picture type, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley tied with white mairine.

Her attendant was attired in white net, ankle length and with short cap sleeves. Her hat also was white and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow tea roses and gladioli, tied with yellow mairine.

Breakfast for the bridal party was served at 9 o'clock at the Castleton hotel, after which Mr. Gorcys and his bride departed for Washington, D. C., from which place they will sail for points south. They will go, later, to Newport News, Va., to reside.

English Public Opposes War Impassioned Anti-War Pleas "Keep Out!" Papers Cry

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 30.—There is not much danger that England would go to war because of any squabble among continental European countries. Public opinion in England is more aroused than in the United States against war.

One has only to read English newspapers to see how strongly "Hands off!" has taken hold. England, like the United States, regards having entered the war as a mistake which became the worst war England lost more than a million men—and now asks, for what?

FACTS

England now is beginning to learn that its "statesmen" have given approval to more secret pacts—"security" pacts. They would draw England into any new European war. But the people would refuse to fight. No government could exist that would try to force them to fight. At least, that seems to be the situation mirrored in English newspapers.

It is a strange thing that nations will get together to fight but they refuse to get together (because of intense nationalisms) to settle economic difficulties. Yet economic difficulties of all nations are so great that millions will starve, and governments will fall, and civilization may disappear, unless nations do get together on trade and currency, and on mass ideas to conquer the depression.

IMPASSIONED PLEA

Read this impassioned plea in the London Daily Express:

"Now let us make a covenant among our people.

"In the name of our million dead, given in a quarrel not of our making, 20 years ago, let us resolve to call a halt upon the path towards carnage and desolation.

"Let us mock the sacrifice of the men who died to end war, let us demand the instant abrogation of the treaties that are forcing us to arms again.

"The new Locarno pact is not an instrument of peace. It involves us only the more deeply in Europe's quarrels.

"Do not hesitate nor delay. Death is hurrying this way. Raise your voice before it is too late! Protest against the war pacts! Agitate. No more war for us!"

Another thing New Castle has never had is a zoo—we mean animal zoo of course.

PRECAUTION

The telephone bell rang in the fire-station office. The duty fireman picked up the receiver.

"Is that the fire station?" asked a timid voice.

"Yes, that's right," replied the fireman, eagerly.

"Well," continued the voice, "I have just had a new rock garden built and I've put some new plants."

"Where's the fire?" asked the fireman.

"Some of these new plants are very expensive, and—" the voice went on.

"Look here," said the fireman at last, "you want the flower shop."

"No, I don't," said the voice; "I was coming to that in a minute. My neighbor's house is on fire, and I don't want you firemen trampling over my garden when you come here."

A CORRECTION

Yes, it happens in the best of regulated families. Of course we make them every week, but not as all the linotype fault, because no one else wants the blame and the poor machine can't defend itself. It was not only its p's that it didn't watch but it's s's as well. You see folks it was this way. Four of the young girls were camping at Wildwood Lake over the Fourth, and Mrs. Sverdrup Sheldon was with them. But she got into the paper said that Mr. Sheldon was the chaperon. You see what the machine did with the letter "s." It left it off the Mr. We regret very much the mistake was made and we wish to state that Mrs. Sheldon was the one who enjoyed the outing with the girls.

The United States government is not likely to be quick-witted by the pleas of Italy and France, of Yugoslavia, of minor states under the dominance of France.

In the first place, if the people of Austria desire to change their government or decide to align themselves with Germany, that is of no consequence to the United States.

The Austrians are almost of one race with the Germans. And even if they weren't, and decided to join Germany, it is of no concern to the United States.

If they do join, it may be because the German people were so badly crippled economically by the Versailles treaty, imposed at the dictation of France, that they band together in despair, in hopelessness.

It would be a wiser course for the world to smash all post-war treaties, freeing all peoples once more.

Then the dictators would fall, for they exist only because of hate and despair.

All of which Washington knows.

The continued assurance of Sir John Simon, British minister for foreign affairs, that Great Britain intends to insist upon "the independence of Austria" may have little backing among the mass of British people—who are not eager to become involved.

Washington is not likely to be turned by any specious plea to save the "integrity" of a nation.

In Europe, the term "the integrity" usually means "to save the status of power."

And it is over the balance of power that all European wars have occurred in the past three centuries.

Snob: One who is proud of the things he should be ashamed of and ashamed of the things he should be proud of.

And the first young monkey that walked upright doubtless was ashamed of the old folks who couldn't.

TODAY Is The Day

MONDAY, JULY 30

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 30, 1914.—Along the Champs Elysees, Paris; at Brandenburg Gate, Berlin; in Trafalgar Square, London; around the Burgundy, Vienna, there are people who realize that a flood of rising and soon must burst the dam of common sense, and they raise their voices in protest. Beside the Winter Palace, St. Petersburg, Cossacks mercilessly stung murmurs that might become angry shouts.

Soon war would be down on the protests with cheers.

The Wein Arbeiterzeitung is crying, ".... the blood that is to be shed in a cause which could perfectly well be settled in honorable and peaceful fashion." The Berliner Vorwarts is warning, "a mad crime is to be capped by a crime still madder." In Paris, 12 dailies are expressing alarm and demanding peace.

These newspapers will be suppressed.

In Paris a trades union congress issues an appeal for a European-wide general strike, "to prevent war and bring government to arbitration." Jean Jaures will be assassinated.

The Juggernaut Berchold started rolling cannot be stopped. Not even by kings.

Wilhelm telegraphs his cousin Nicholas at 1 a. m.:

"My ambassador has been instructed to call your government's attention to the dangers and serious consequences of mobilization. Austria-Hungary mobilized only against Serbia, and at that she mobilized only part of her army. If Russia, as she appears from what you and your government say, is mobilizing only against Austria-Hungary, the position of mediator, friendly manner and which I accepted at your urgent request, is jeopardized if not rendered untenable. The whole weight of the decision now rests on your shoulders; they must bear the responsibility of war or peace."

The czar knows only what he is told when he telephones his minister of war, Suchomlinov, to reduce the mobilization to a partial one. He is told the machinery of mobilization cannot be stopped. The chief of the general staff, Yanushkevitch, confirms this. The czar is dissuaded.

The machine has been in motion for five days, all the while Russia has been denying it to the world.

Another king who does not want war cannot prevent it. George, Defender of the Faith, etc., telegraphs his cousin, Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Wilhelm:

"I am earnestly desirous that such an irreparable disaster as a European war should be averted. My government is doing its utmost, suggesting to Russia and France to suspend further military preparations if Austria will consent to be satisfied with occupation of Belgrade as a hostage for satisfactory settlement of her demands. ... Trust Wilhelm will use his great influence. ..."

That day George's government was not doing its utmost, authorities were to agree later. George's cousin, Grand Duke Alexander, tells us:

"The British government could have averted the catastrophe, had it declared its readiness to stand by France and Russia."

Germany and Austria-Hungary still hoped, that day, Britain would remain neutral. France asked, that day, for a declaration from London that would leave no doubts in Berlin or Vienna.

But Sir Edward Grey hesitated. A Europe was lost.

The juggernaut would not be stopped.

July 30, 1919.—George Yeardley, 38, son of a merchant-tailor of London, and for three months governor of the province of Virginia, committed suicide on his own initiative at Jamestown, the western hemisphere. Two delegates sat for a each of the seven provinces. Principal enactment of opening session—Adoption of a state seal picturing Queen Anne with an Americanian bearing tobacco kneeling before her.

July 30, 1903.—The Communist party that now rules Russia and 150,000,000, was founded—in London! It was born during the second congress of the Russian Social Democratic party—held, for safety's sake, as far as convenient from Russia. The Bolshevik (majority) and Menshevik (minority) factions split over a question of duties of party members, and the Bolsheviks became the Communist party.

Notable Nativities—William Taylor Adams, b. 1822, famed to a recent generation as Oliver Optic, author of boy's books. ... George W. Melville, b. 1841, U. S. rear admiral who justly earned fame as hero of the ill-fated "Jennette" expedition to the Arctic.

Henry Ford, b. 1863, in Greenfield, Mich., auto manufacturer. ... Smedley D. Butler, b. 1881, retired major general of U. S. Marines who holds two congressional medals of honor. ... Viscount Falkland, b. 1856, British philosopher.

First Of All—There was a woman presidential nominee in the United States before women could vote! The first presidential candidate of her sex was Mrs. Bolva Lockwood, nominee of the Equal Rights party in 1844 and 1848.

THE NATION'S WAR ON CRIMINALS

THE announcement that the Department of Justice has compiled a list of 600 gangsters and racketeers who are at large and that it intends to pursue them until they have been placed behind the bars or prove they have abandoned crime, is likely to cause a lot of running to cover in the underworld.

Its significance lies in the fact that the federal authorities mean business and that the crooks and thugs understand it better than any one else.

The Dillinger incident assumed importance because one man was foolish enough to imagine that he could defy the United States government with impunity. Other people were beginning to nurse that myth. But it has been exploded in dramatic fashion and now the drive is on to get the other members of the Dillinger gang and all other outlaws.

The new declaration of war against the criminal element in the nation is serious business. The federal government in this matter is thorough and relentless. If there be any doubt, it is only necessary to look at the record of the year ending June 30. During that period 3531 convictions were obtained in cases handled by the Division of Investigation, which is 98.81 per cent of all cases brought to trial in twelve months. Surely that is a record hard to match.

During the same period 928 fugitives from justice were found by the agents of the division. Besides this 4356 others fleeing from the law were found through fingerprint work of the Identification Unit, making a total of 5284 located in one year. If this kind of work continues it should not be long before the most hardened criminals will be forced to the conclusion that crime does not pay.

The figures, impressive as they are, do not begin to tell the story of the persistence and hard work involved in protecting the community from the gangsters and racketeers. There has been no let-up and there will be no let-up until brutal crime has been reduced to the minimum. The crusade deserves the sympathy and encouragement of all law-abiding men and women.

TAKING APPEAL OUT OF COOK'S FOREST

A few years ago, Pennsylvania citizens provided a large sum of money and the state took over a vast acreage ninety miles from New Castle known as Cook's Forest. It was purchased and made a state park because of its natural beauty—because it was the last stand of virgin trees in the state.

Years ago, before it was invaded by the hordes of picnickers it was majestic in its natural beauty.

But, today, to one who seeks to go into Cook's forest to appreciate its natural beauty, it is necessary to literally ride through clouds of dust. The main route made through the forest which crosses the river at Cooksburg, is improved and a fine highway. But in order to actually get into the heart of the forest it is necessary to travel on dirt roads. And none of these have been oiled, or anything done to lay the dust. Hence, it's a real ride through the dust to get to the heart of the woods.

One is hardly in a mood to appreciate the fact that he is in the heart of the majestic woodland which has been hundreds of years in developing, after reaching the destination, when he feels like he had just completed a trip through the burning plains of the mid-west.

It certainly seems that it would be a most desirable, and much needed move, to provide for some method of laying the dust on the highways in Cook's forest.

There will probably be offered as an alibi that there is no money for this work. But, with the millions being spent on many other enterprises in this state, it seems that funds could be provided.

PROPOSED DROUGHT AREA EVACUATION

There may be sound basis for the claim of Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, that the drought area in the western half of the Dakotas, Eastern Montana and Wyoming never should have been placed under cultivation.

But his recommendation that the many thousands of farmers in that section be evacuated is not so easily assimilated. The commissioner points to the deficient rainfall and says another drought is certain to follow within the next few years. Many agricultural experts, however, maintain his theory of abandoning the land, reseeding it in buffalo grass and using it for range purposes only, is absurd.

Though the evacuation undertaking probably could be accomplished, at tremendous expense, it must be remembered that the district is home to the farmers, and tearing them loose from their moorings would leave if the necessary funds were advanced and they were given means of making a livelihood in some other place. But many others, despite the hardships, would prefer to cling to the old homesteads and take their chances with the droughts. And finding room for all of them in other sections would be no easy matter.

A SUMMER TO TALK ABOUT

Had nature been outraged by the government's crop reduction program she could not have shown displeasure in more violent form than the heat wave and drought which have been sweeping half the country bringing death to hundreds, waste to millions of acres and both thirst and hunger to herds of cattle.

Such havoc has been wrought with certain crops that the AAA, Secretary Wallace agrees, may have to do an about face and induce the farmers who have water and growing weather to increase their acreage to make up for an anticipated shortage.

Should the United States run short of wheat, corn and other staple crops the more fortunate farming sections will receive high prices for their crops and foreign lands having surpluses for disposal will find a ready market here.

DOGS WANTED

On one occasion the minister delivered a sermon of but ten minutes' duration—a most unusual thing for him.

Upon the conclusion of his remarks, he added: "I regret to inform you, brethren, that my dog, who appears to be particularly fond of paper, this morning ate that portion of my sermon that I have not delivered. Let us pray."

After the service, the clergyman was met at the door by a man, who, as a rule, attended divine service in another parish. Shaking the good man by the hand, he said, "Doctor, I should like to know whether that dog of yours has any pups. If so, I want to give one to my minister."

BEWARE SNAP JUDGMENTS

Often you misjudge people because of certain characteristics which you think you see indicated.

In deciding certain things about people which study has led you to believe are infallible truths, be careful that you don't overlook counterbalancing characteristics.

Most of us have some unfavorable tendencies.

But because of strongly founded principles of right and wrong, we do not permit ourselves to be led by them.

In fact, they have little power over us.

Upon meeting a person, you catalogue and misjudge him according to certain principles upon which you are more or less well versed.

You do not look for the traits which prove that he is master of the evil within him.

Consider how necessary this is before passing severe judgment upon any individual.

Have you ever made an unbiased study of yourself?

Would you like to be judged by your indications of weakness?

You would not—you would consider it most unjust.

So many of us live our lives And quit the world at last to say That nothing of our work survives Beyond the purpose of today.

Along the chartered lanes we go At tasks we have been taught to do, Content to trudge the middle row, Since greatness falls to very few.

But now and then a soul is born Which has the courage and the gift To labor for the world's forlorn And from their lives a burden lift.

Such was the soul of her who spurned The easier paths and set her face To goals where not one beacon burned To make the world a happier place.

Now hope shines out where bleak despair Blighted men's lives the world around.

She leaves the earth, but everywhere Her work with gratitude is crowned. (Copyright, 1934, Edgar A. Guest.)

English Public Opposes War Impassioned Anti-War Pleas "Keep Out!" Papers Cry

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 30.—There is not much danger that England would go to war because of any squabble among continental European countries. Public opinion in England is more aroused than in the United States against war.

One has only to read English newspapers to see how strongly "Hands off!" has taken hold. England, like the United States, regrets having entered the argument which became the World War. England lost more than a million men—and now asks, for what?

FACTS

England now is beginning to learn that its "statesmen" have given approval to more secret pacts—"security" pacts. They would draw England into any new European war. But the people would refuse to fight. No government could exist that would try to force them to fight. At least, that seems to be the situation mirrored in English newspapers.

It is a strange thing that nations will get together to fight but they refuse to get together (because of intense nationalisms) to settle economic difficulties. Yet economic difficulties of all nations are so great that millions will starve, and governments will fall, and civilization may disappear, unless nations do get together on trade and currency, and on mass ideas to conquer the depression.

IMPASSIONED PLEA

Read this impassioned plea in the London Daily Express: "Now let us make a covenant among our people. "In the name of our million dead, given in a quarrel not of our making, 20 years ago, let us resolve to call a halt upon the path towards carnage and desolation. "Let us mock the sacrifice of the men who died to end war, let us demand the instant abrogation of the treaties that are forcing us to arms again. "The new Locarno pact is not an instrument of peace. It involves us only the more deeply in Europe's quarrels. "Do not hesitate nor delay. Death is hurrying this way. Raise your voice before it is too late! Protest against the war pacts! Agitate. No more war for us!"

SEVENTEEN YEARS AGO

Twenty years ago such a plea would have been accounted treason in England. The writer would have been put into prison for a long term. He might have been put to death. The hysteria of war, induced by propaganda, destroys the true picture and raises to power men of greed and design. J. Ramsay MacDonald protested against war 20 years ago. He became an outcast. A crew of a ship sailing from England struck rather than carry him as a passenger.

A few years later he was prime minister. Today he is considered by opponents "too far behind the times" to remain as prime minister. The world is moving rapidly.

Seventeen years ago, in the United States, many men were sent to prison for ten years for protesting against entering a European war.

Hysteria, induced by propaganda, won. That is the manner in which it is described in scores of newspapers today.

This writer was once swept by that hysteria. He enlisted, but never got overseas.

AUSTRIA

Appeals have been going forth to save the independence of Austria. Much has been made of the "violation of the integrity of Austria." The Austrians and almost all of the world are not likely to be quickly aroused by the pleas of Italy and France, of Yugoslavia, of minor states under the dominance of France.

In the first place, if the people of Austria desire to change their government or decide to align themselves with Germany, that is of no consequence to the United States.

"The United States government is not likely to be quickly aroused by the pleas of Italy and France, of Yugoslavia, of minor states under the dominance of France.

If they do join, it may be because the Germanic people were so badly crippled economically by the Versailles treaty, imposed at the dictation of France, that they band together in despair, in hopelessness.

It would be a wiser course for the world to smother all post-war treaties, freeing all peoples once more.

Then the dictators would fall, for they exist only because of hate and despair.

All of which Washington knows. The continued assurance of Sir John Simon, British minister for foreign affairs, that Great Britain intends to insist upon "the independence of Austria" may have little backing among the mass of British people—who are not eager to become involved.

Washington is not likely to be turned by any specious plea to save the "integrity" of a nation.

In Europe, the term "save the integrity" usually means "to save the status quo."

And it is over the balance of power that all European wars have occurred in the past three centuries.

Snob: One who is proud of the things he should be ashamed of and ashamed of the things he should be proud of.

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 30, 1914—Along the Champs Elysees, Paris, at Brandenberg Gate, Berlin, in Trafalgar Square, London; around the Burging, Vienna, there are people who realize that a flood is rising and soon must burst the dam of common sense, and they raise their voices in protest. Beside the Winter Palace, St. Petersburg, Cossacks mercilessly still murmurs that might become any shout.

Say vox populi will drown out the protests with cheers. The Wein Arbeiterzeitung is crying, "The blood that is to be shed in a cause which could perfectly well be settled in honorable and peaceful fashion." The Berliner Vorwarts is warning, "A mad crime is to be capped by a crime." In Paris, 12 dailies are expressing alarm and demanding peace.

These newspapers will be suppressed. In Paris a trades union congress issues an appeal for a European-wide general strike, "to prevent war and bring governments to arbitration." Jean Jaures will be assassinated. The Juggernaut Berchtocht started rolling cannot be stopped. Not even by kings.

Wilhelm telegraphs his cousin Nicholas at 1 a. m.: "My ambassador has been instructed to call your government's attention to the danger of serious consequences of mobilization. Austria-Hungary mobilized only against Serbia, and at that she mobilized only part of her army. If Russia, as she appears from what you and your government say, is mobilizing only against Austria-Hungary, the position of mediator, which you entrusted to me in a friendly manner and which I accepted at your urgent request, is jeopardized if not rendered untenable. The whole weight of the decision now rests on your shoulders; they must bear the responsibility of war or peace."

The czar knows only what he is told. When he telephones his minister of war, Shuchomilov, to reduce the mobilization to a partial one, he is told the machinery of mobilization cannot be stopped! The chief of the general staff, Yanshkevitch, confutes this. The czar is dissuaded.

The machine has been in motion for five days, all the while Russia has been denying it to the world. Another king who does not want war cannot prevent it. George, Defender of the Faith, etc., telegraphs his cousin, Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Wilhelm: "I am earnestly desirous that such an irreparable disaster as a European war should be averted. My government is doing its utmost, suggesting to Russia and France to suspend further military preparations if Austria will consent to be satisfied with occupation of Belgrade as a hostage for satisfactory settlement of her demands. ... Trust William will use his great influence. ... That day George's government was not doing its utmost, authorities were to agree later. ## THE NATION'S WAR ON CRIMINALS

THE announcement that the Department of Justice has compiled a list of 600 gangsters and racketeers who are at large and that it intends to pursue them until they have been placed behind the bars or prove they have abandoned crime, is likely to cause a lot of running to cover in the underworld.

Its significance lies in the fact that the federal authorities mean business and that the crooks and thugs understand it better than any one else.

The Dillinger incident assumed importance because one man was foolish enough to imagine that he could defy the United States government with impunity. Other people were beginning to nurse that myth. But it has been exploded in dramatic fashion and now the drive is on to get the other members of the Dillinger gang and all other outlaws.

The new declaration of war against the criminal element in the nation is serious business. The federal government in this matter is thorough and relentless. If there be any doubt, it is only necessary to look at the record of the year ending June 30. During that period 3531 convictions were obtained in cases handled by the Division of Investigation, which is 98.81 per cent of all cases brought to trial in twelve months. Surely that is a record hard to match.

During the same period 928 fugitives from justice were found by the agents of the division. Besides this 4356 others fleeing from the law were found through fingerprint work of the Identification Unit, making a total of 5284 located in one year. If this kind of work continues it should not be long before the most hardened criminals will be forced to the conclusion that crime does not pay.

The figures, impressive as they are, do not begin to tell the story of the persistence and hard work involved in protecting the community from the gangsters and racketeers. There has been no let-up and there will be no let-up until brutal crime has been reduced to the minimum. The crusade deserves the sympathy and encouragement of all law-abiding men and women.

TAKING APPEAL OUT OF COOK'S FOREST

A few years ago, Pennsylvania citizens provided a large sum of money and the state took over a vast acreage ninety miles from New Castle known as Cook's Forest. It was purchased and made a state park because of its natural beauty—because it was the last stand of virgin trees in the state.

Years ago, before it was invaded by the hordes of picnickers it was majestic in its natural beauty. But, today, to one who seeks to go into Cook's forest to appreciate its natural beauty, it is necessary to literally ride through clouds of dust. The main route made through the forest which crosses the river at Cooksburg, is improved and a fine highway. But in order to actually get into the heart of the forest it is necessary to travel on dirt roads. And none of these have been oiled, or anything done to lay the dust. Hence, it's a real ride through the dust to get to the heart of the woods.

One is hardly in a mood to appreciate the fact that he is in the heart of the majestic woodland which has been hundreds of years in developing, after reaching the destination, when he feels like he had just completed a trip through the burning plains of the mid-west.

It certainly seems that it would be a most desirable, and much needed move, to provide for some method of laying the dust on the highways in Cook's forest.

There will probably be offered as an alibi that there is no money for this work. But, with the millions being spent on many other enterprises in this state, it seems that funds could be provided.

PROPOSED DROUGHT AREA EVACUATION

There may be sound basis for the claim of Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, that the drought area in the western half of the Dakotas, Eastern Montana and Wyoming never should have been placed under cultivation.

But his recommendation that the many thousands of farmers in that section be evacuated is not so easily assimilated. The commissioner points to the deficient rainfall and says another drought is certain to follow within the next few years. Many agricultural experts, however, maintain his theory of abandoning the land, reseeding it in buffalo grass and using it for range purposes only, is absurd.

Though the evacuation undertaking probably could be accomplished, at tremendous expense, it must be remembered that the district is home to the farmers, and tearing them loose from their moorings would leave if the necessary funds were advanced and they were given means of making a livelihood in some other place. But many others, despite the hardships, would prefer to cling to the old homesteads and take their chances with the droughts. And finding room for all of them in other sections would be no easy matter.

A SUMMER TO TALK ABOUT

Had nature been outraged by the government's crop reduction program she could not have shown displeasure in more violent form than the heat wave and drought which have been sweeping half the country bringing death to hundreds, waste to millions of acres and both thirst and hunger to herds of cattle.

Such havoc has been wrought with certain crops that the AAA, Secretary Wallace agrees, may have to do an about face and induce the farmers who have water and growing weather to increase their acreage to make up for an anticipated shortage.

Should the United States run short of wheat, corn and other staple crops the more fortunate farming sections will receive high prices for their crops and foreign lands having surpluses for disposal will find a ready market here.

Can a man, by taking good care of himself, increase the span of his life?

DOGS WANTED

On one occasion the minister delivered a sermon of but ten minutes' duration—a most unusual thing for him.

Upon the conclusion of his remarks, he added: "I regret to inform you, brethren, that my dog, who appears to be particularly fond of paper, this morning ate that portion of my sermon that I have not delivered. Let us pray."

After the service, the clergyman was met at the door by a man, who, as a rule, attended divine service in another parish. Shaking the good man by the hand, he said, "Doctor, should like to know whether that dog of yours has any pups. If so, I want to give one to my minister."

BEWARE SNAP JUDGMENTS

Often you misjudge people because of certain characteristics which you think you see indicated.

In deciding certain things about people which study has led you to believe are infallible truths, be careful that you don't overlook counterbalancing characteristics.

Most of us have some unfavorable tendencies.

But because of strongly founded principles of right and wrong, we do not permit ourselves to be led by them.

In fact, they have little power over us.

Upon meeting a person, you catalogue and misjudge him according to certain principles upon which you are more or less well versed.

You do not look for the traits which prove that he is master of the evil within him.

Consider how necessary this is before passing severe judgment upon any individual.

Have you ever made an unbiased study of yourself?

Would you like to be judged by your indications of weakness?

You would not—you would consider it most unjust.

And quit the world at last to say
That nothing of our work survives
Beyond the purpose of today.

Along the charted lanes we go

Content to trudge the middle road,
Since greatness falls to very few.

But now and then a soul is born
Which has the courage and the gift
To labor for the world's forlorn
And from their lives a burden lift.

Such was the soul of her who

English Public Opposes War
Impassioned Anti-War Pleas
"Keep Out!" Papers Cry

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 30.—There is not much danger that England would go to war because of any squabble among continental European countries. Public opinion in England is more aroused than in the United States against war.

One has only to read English newspapers to see how strongly "Hands off!" has taken hold. England, like the United States, regrets having entered the argument which became the World War. England lost more than a million men—and now asks, for what?

PACTS

England now is beginning to learn that its "statesmen" have given approval to more secret pacts—"security" pacts. They would draw England into any new European war. But the people would refuse to fight. No government could exist that would try to force them to fight. At least, that seems to be the situation mirrored in English newspapers.

It is a strange thing that nations will get together to fight but they refuse to get together (because of intense nationalisms) to settle economic difficulties. Yet economic difficulties of all nations are so great that millions will starve, and governments will fall, and civilization may disappear, unless nations do get together on trade and currency, and on mass ideas to conquer the depression.

IMPASSIONED PLEA

Read this impassioned plea in the London Daily Express:

"Now let us make a covenant among our people.

"In the name of our million dead, given in a quarrel not of our making, 20 years ago, let us resolve to call a halt upon the path towards carnage and desolation.

"Let us mock the sacrifice of the men who died to end war, let us demand the instant abrogation of the treaties that are forcing us to arms again.

"The new Locarno pact is not an instrument of peace. It involves us only the more deeply in Europe's quarrels.

"Do not hesitate nor delay. Death is hurrying this way. Raise your voice before it is too late! Protest against the war pacts! Agitate. No more war for us!"

Twenty years ago such a plea would have been accounted treason in England. The war would have been put into prison for a long term. He might have been put to death.

The hysteria of war, induced by propaganda, destroys the true patriots and raises to power men of greed and design.

J. Ramsay MacDonald protested against war 20 years ago. He believed that the world was heading for a new era of peace and prosperity.

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 30, 1914.—Along the Champs Elysee, Paris; at Brandenburger Gate, Berlin; in Trafalgar Square, London; around the Burgundy, Vienna, there are people who realize that a flood is rising and soon must burst the dam of common sense, and they raise their voices in protest. Beside the Winter Palace, St. Petersburg, Cossacks mercilessly still murmur that might become angry shouts.

Soon vox populi will drown out the protests with cheers.

The Wein Arbeiterzeitung is crying, "The blood that is to be shed in a cause which could perfectly well be settled in honorable and peaceful fashion."

The Berliner Vorwarts is warning, "A mad crime is to be capped by a crime still madder." In Paris, 12 dailies are expressing alarm and demanding peace.

These newspapers will be suppressed.

In Paris a trades union congress issues an appeal for a European-wide general strike. "To prevent war and bring governments to arbitration." Jean Jaures will be assassinated.

The Juggernaut Berchtold started rolling cannot be stopped. Not even by kings.

Wilhelm telegraphs his cousin Nicholas at 1 a. m.:

"My ambassador has been instructed to call your government's attention to the dangers and serious consequences of mobilization. Austria-Hungary mobilized only against Serbia, and at that she mobilized only part of her army. If Russia, as she appears from what you and your government say, is mobilizing only against Austria-Hungary, the position of mediator, which you entrusted to me in a friendly manner and which I accepted at your urgent request, is jeopardized if not rendered untenable. The whole weight of the decision now rests on your shoulders; they must bear the responsibility of war or peace."

The Czar knows only what he is told. When he telephones his minister, Sushomlinov, to reduce the mobilization to a partial one, he is told the machinery of mobilization cannot be stopped! The chief of the general staff, Yanushkevitch, confirms this. The Czar is dissuaded.

The machine has been in motion for five days, all the while Russia has been denying it to the world.

Withdraws As Candidate
For Presidency Of Amalgamated Association

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 30.—Carrying out recently announced intentions, Earl J. Forbeck, McKeesport "rank and file" steel leader, today withdrew as a candidate to replace Michael F. Tighe as president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Forbeck, it was understood, will throw his support to George J. Williams of Canonsburg, original candidate of the progressive element in the steel union, which is trying to unseat Tighe, head of the organization for the past 15 years.

"The rank and file" leader's withdrawal makes the presidential contest a three-cornered race, with Tighe, Williams and E. F. Bennett, Granite City, Ill., steel worker, the only names to appear on the ballot for that post. Secretary Louis Leonard of the Amalgamated, who ordered ballots printed today, alone of the incumbent officers is unopposed.

Councilman Davies defended Hoskins. He denied Hoskins was to blame. Councilman Alexander took the same attitude.

City Engineer Hoskins said the improvement of the driveway was included among the projects to be put through by the RWD and alleged that no employees for that kind of work was assigned for the project.

He also brought out that people are not patronizing Cascade Park on Sunday.

"Why aren't we getting the patronage?" he asked.

Councilman Davies attributed it to "public psychology."

In June, 1933, an order was made directing Gordon to pay $100 per week for the support of his wife and two minor children. Later he secured a Mexican divorce and married Marie Leslie of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Gordon, his former wife, claimed that his payments were in arrears from June 20, 1934, and caused the rule to be issued, which was discharged this morning following arrearage payment.

Sterilization Move Opposed

Habitual Criminals Oppose Enforcement Of New Oklahoma Law

(International News Service)
MCALISTER, Okla., July 30.—Three hundred "habitual" criminals opened their fight today against enforcement of the recently enacted Oklahoma eugenic sterilization law. Three attorneys engaged through funds raised by the convicts were to appear before the state board of affairs at the state prison in a test case brought in the name of George Winkler, 28-year-old Oklahoma City convict.

The law provides for eugenic sterilization of habitual criminals—those convicted three times of felonies—and certain types of insane persons. The first hearings by the board were conducted at the state asylum at Norman several months ago. One of the inmates, a 21-year-old woman, protested, declaring she wanted to marry upon her release from the institution and raise children.

The board's decisions may be appealed to the state supreme court.

Forbeck Quits As Candidate

For Presidency Of Amalgamated Association

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 30.—Carrying out recently announced intentions, Earl J. Forbeck, McKeesport "rank and file" steel leader, today withdrew as a candidate to replace Michael F. Tighe as president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Forbeck, it was understood, will throw his support to George J. Williams of Canonsburg, original candidate of the progressive element in the steel union, which is trying to unseat Tighe, head of the organization for the past 15 years.

The "rank and file" leader's withdrawal makes the presidential contest a three-cornered race, with Tighe, Williams and B. F. Bennett, Granite City, Ill., steel worker, the only names to appear on the ballot for that post. Secretary Louis Leonard of the Amalgamated, who ordered ballots printed today, alone of the incumbent officers is unopposed.

Requests City To Improve Driveway

Dusty Golf Course Driveway Brings Complaint From Nunn

William Nunn today appeared before city council and requested the city to have improved the driveway from the Ellwood City highway to the city golf clubhouse. He said the dust should be eliminated.

He suggested oil or calcium chloride be used. He declared that some persons blamed the situation on City Engineer Hoskins.

Councilman Davies defended Hoskins. He denied Hoskins was to blame. Councilman Alexander took the same attitude.

City Engineer Hoskins said the improvement of the driveway was included among the projects to be put through by the RWD and alleged that no employees for that kind of work was assigned for the project.

He also brought out that people are not patronizing Cascade Park on Sunday.

"Why aren't we getting the patronage?" he asked.

Rule Is Discharged In C. R. Gordon Case

Compliance With A Former Order Of Court Is Reported This Morning

When the case of Cecil R. Gordon, upon whom a rule to show cause why a process should not be awarded for failure to comply with a court order, was called before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning, it was reported that Gordon had paid his former wife, Alice Gordon, the amount which was in arrears, and the rule was discharged.

In June, 1933, an order was made directing Gordon to pay $9 per week for the support of his wife and two minor children. Later he secured a Mexican divorce and married Marie Leslie of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Gordon, his former wife, claimed that his payments were in arrears from June 20, 1934, and caused the rule to be issued, which was discharged this morning following arrearage payment.

(International News Service)
MALESTER, Okla., July 30.—Three hundred "habitual" criminals opened their fight today against enforcement of the recently enacted Oklahoma eugenic sterilization law. Three attorneys engaged through funds raised by the convicts were to appear before the state board of affairs at the state prison in a test case brought in the name of George Winkler, 28-year-old Oklahoma City convict.

The law provides for eugenic sterilization of habitual criminals—those convicted three times of felonies—and certain types of insane persons. The first hearings by the board were conducted at the state asylum at Norman several months ago. One of the inmates, a 21-year-old woman, protested, declaring she wanted to marry upon her release from the institution and raise children.

The board's decisions may be appealed to the state supreme court.

Would Speed Up Naval Program

Repercussions Heard In Naval Circles Over Lagging Of Big Program

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Charges that the navy's huge ship construction program is lagging far behind schedule brought repercussions in "treaty navy" circles today.

With the navy preparing to submit a statement to Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate labor committee, designed to show that the expansion program is being speeded up, investigation by congressional navy friends appeared likely.

The allegation was laid before the "kick-back" sub-committee of the senate labor committee in connection with a request by organized labor for revision of the shipbuilding code and completion of a labor relations board before a new $50,000,000 naval program is launched.

Provide Employment.

Representatives of the metal trades division of the American Federation of Labor, it was disclosed, have urged the navy department to speed the program in order to provide employment.

W. A. Calvin, vice president of the boiler-makers and shipbuilders union, told Senator Walsh that keels of only two of the 16 ships allotted to navy yards 11 months ago have been laid down. Twenty-one ships in private yards are far behind schedule, he said.

Trammell Pleased.

"I am anxious the construction program proceed rapidly and that the work in the navy yards be carried forward," said Senator Trammell (D) of Florida, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee. Trammell planned to confer with the navy department over the situation.

"The charges, if true, are very serious indeed," said Rep. Britten (R) of Illinois, ranking Republican on the house naval affairs committee. "If true, they indicate a 'paper navy' is being constructed while the nation was promised speedy progress would be made toward expansion of the navy to treaty strength. I believe that is what the navy intends to do."

On Court House Hill

County Commissioner P. O. Elder and son Paul, left on Saturday on a fishing trip to Canada.

W. D. Porter of Ellwood City, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Pasquale D'Andrea, executor in the estate of Filomena D'Andrea, to collect a funeral bill of $570.

County Welfare Director M. B. Hogue, reports that there has recently been an increase in the number of persons receiving help from the county. This has been due to a falling off in work.

With the payment of $30,000 indebtedness to banks Saturday, County Controller R. C. McCaslin reports that all of the bank loans have now been paid off, $65,000 having previously been paid within the past week. The money was borrowed to meet expenses until the 1934 taxes began to come in.

Will of the late Mary I. White of Big Beaver township, has been probated at the register and recorder's office. The bulk of her estate is left to her sisters, Margaret, Maudie and Susan Wilkinson, share and share alike. Small bequests are also made to her brothers, David and James Wilkinson and sisters, Emma Wilkinson Miles and Nancy Wilkinson Weitz.

Shattering all previous records this year, County Treasurer William O. Pitts took in $34,216.05 on Friday. The previous high was on Thursday when collections amounted to $28,442.52. The money taken in Friday was distributed as follows: County, $22,213.95; state, $897.12; poor, $11,106.98. The largest payment on Friday was received from

The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, amounting to $8,575.65. The National Radiator Company paid $1,974, which was the next largest amount received.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation announces that beginning August 1, interest rates on all bonds to be issued will be 2 1/2 per cent instead of the present 3 per cent. The new issue of bonds will be fully guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States government, the same as the present bonds, and the same tax exemption feature will be continued. The three per cent bonds have been selling above par, and since the government has guaranteed them as to both principal and interest, there has been a very active market in them. There seems to be plenty of money in the big money centers of the country and it is believed that the new issue of 2 1/2 per cent bonds can be readily sold. Reduction in the amount of interest paid by banks has helped the sale of the Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds.

The First National Bank of New Wilmington, now to the use of R. N. Wilson, receiver, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against The Prudential Insurance Company to collect on a $20,000 policy. It is claimed that in February, 1911, the defendant company issued a policy for $20,000 on the life of Howell T. Getty, then cashier of the bank. Getty borrowed $15,000 from the bank, giving his note.

During 1933 L. P. Housechild, National Bank examiner, who was going over the books of the bank, informed Getty that an excessive loan had been granted to him, and that he must put up additional security. Getty put up $5,000 in insurance policies, one of them being the $20,000 policy on which this suit is entered. Getty died on March 17, 1933, at which time he was indebted to the bank, according to the statement of claim, in the sum of $9,667.29 with interest from Jan. 1st, 1933. It is claimed that demand has been made on the insurance company for payment of the $20,000 policy but it has so far been refused.

On Court House Hill

County Commissioner P. O. Elder and son Paul, left on Saturday on a fishing trip to Canada.

W. D. Porter of Ellwood City, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Pasquale D'Andrea, executor in the estate of Filomena D'Andrea, to collect a funeral bill of $570.

County Welfare Director M. B. Hogue, reports that there has recently been an increase in the number of persons receiving help from the county. This has been due to a falling off in work.

With the payment of $30,000 indebtedness to banks Saturday, County Controller R. C. McCaslin reports that all of the bank loans have now been paid off, $65,000 having previously been paid with borrowed money. The money was borrowed to meet expenses until the 1934 taxes began to come in.

Will of the late Mary I. White of Big Beaver township, has been probated at the register and recorder's office. The bulk of her estate is left to her sisters, Margaret, Massie and Susan Wilkinson, share and share alike. Small bequests are also made to her brothers, David and James Wilkinson and sisters, Emma Wilkinson Miles and Nancy Wilkinson Weitz.

Shattering all previous records this year, County Treasurer William O. Pitts took in $34,218.05 on Friday. The previous high was on Thursday when collections amounted to $28,442.52. The money taken in Friday was distributed as follows: County, $22,213.95; state, $897.12; poor, $11,106.98. The largest payment on Friday was received from

The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, amounting to $8,575.65. The National Radiator Company paid $1,974, which was the next largest amount received.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation announces that beginning August 1, interest rates on all bonds to be issued will be 2 1/2 per cent instead of the present 3 per cent. The new issue of bonds will be fully guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States government, the same as the present bonds, and the same tax exemption feature will be continued. The three per cent bonds have been selling above par, and since the government has guaranteed them as to both principal and interest, there has been a very active market in them. There seems to be plenty of money in the big money centers of the country and it is believed that the new issue of 2 1/2 per cent bonds can be readily sold. Reduction in the amount of interest paid by banks has helped the sale of the Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds.

The First National Bank of New Wilmington, now to the use of R. N. Wilson, receiver, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against The Prudential Insurance Company to collect on a $2000 policy. It is claimed that in February, 1911, the defendant company issued a policy for $2000 on the life of Howell T. Getty, then cashier of the bank. Getty borrowed $15,000 from the bank, giving his note. During 1933 L. P. Houschild, National Bank examiner, who was going over the books of the bank, informed Getty that an excessive loan had been granted to him, and that he must put up additional security. Getty put up $5000 in insurance policies, one of them being the $2000 policy on which this suit is entered. Getty died on March 17, 1933, at which time he was indebted to the bank, according to the statement of claim, in the sum of $9,667.20 with interest from Jan. 1st, 1933. It is claimed that designation by police and insurance representatives, Louis Yurg, 49, pleaded guilty here Saturday to burning his home and barn in 1930 for its $6,500 insurance. Yurg confessed he had saturated the house and barn with kerosene after supposedly starting for Pittsburgh, Frank Allen, insurance investigator, testified.

ERIE, Pa., July 30.—Closing a four-year investigation by police and insurance representatives, Louis Yurg, 49, pleaded guilty here Saturday to burning his home and barn in 1930 for its $6,500 insurance. Yurg confessed he had saturated the house and barn with kerosene after supposedly starting for Pittsburgh, Frank Allen, insurance investigator, testified.

Allen revealed that proof of Yurg's act was given by a woman whom the defendant allegedly had scorned. Informed of the evidence, Yurg confessed, Allen said, and the woman did not testify. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Jennie Lee Gives Her Observations On U. S. New Deal

British Visitor Who Spoke Here Recently Is Of Opinion
Plan Will Not Work

After a tour of the United States during which she saw the "New Deal" at work, Miss Jennie Lee, former member of the British Parliament is of the opinion that it will not work and that President Roosevelt will finish with a broken heart. Miss Lee spoke in New Castle some months ago.

Miss Lee is just ready to return to England but her opinions have undergone a change since last fall. "I think Mr. Roosevelt is liable to end up with a broken heart," she said in New York. She declared the New Deal wouldn't work, and after seeing the struggles over child labor and recognition of union labor is of the opinion that "America's real struggle is still ahead."

She also scored the method of relief workers in determining the need of applicants for relief. "The workers have absolutely no privacy when they are unemployed and need help."

Miss Lee is the daughter of a coal miner and at the age of 24 she was elected to the parliament. This was in 1929. She was defeated for reelection in 1931. Since then she has been on speaking tours and is now completing a tour of the United States.

Would Speed Up Naval Program

SERIOUS CHARGES HAVE BEEN HURLED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Charges that the navy's huge ship construction program is lagging far behind schedule brought repercussions in "treaty navy" circles today.

With the navy preparing to submit a statement to Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate labor committee, designed to show that the expansion program is being speeded up, investigation by congressional navy friends appeared likely.

The allegation was laid before the "kick-back" sub-committee of the senate labor committee in connection with a request by organized labor for revision of the shipbuilding code and completion of a labor relations board before a new $50,000,000 naval program is launched.

Provide Employment.

Representatives of the metal trades division of the American Federation of Labor, it was disclosed, have urged the navy department to speed the program in order to provide employment.

W. A. Calvin, vice president of the boiler-makers and shipbuilders union, told Senator Walsh that keels of only two of the 16 ships allotted to navy yards 11 months ago have been laid down. Twenty-one ships in private yards are far behind schedule, he said.

Trammell Pleaded.
"I am anxious the construction program proceed rapidly and that the work in the navy yards be carried forward," said Senator Trammell (D) of Florida, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee. Trammell planned to confer with the navy department over the situation.

"The charges, if true, are very serious indeed," said Rep. Britten (R) of Illinois, ranking Republican on the house naval affairs committee. "If true they indicate a 'paper navy' is being constructed while the nation was promised speedy progress would be made toward expansion of the navy to treaty strength. I believe that is what the navy intends to do."

Jack Young, colored dog catcher, doesn't mind dispatching dogs, but declared yesterday: "I don't want to kill cats." When asked why he disliked the job, he said it took too many bullets to kill them. "They say a cat has nine lives; it isn't true, they have 12," he declared. He has invited the public to inspect his dog pound, which he declares is kept in a sanitary condition and the food is so good dogs which have been reclaimed return for their food.

Two colored folks were in police court. Their domestic life hasn't been all bliss, so what could be more natural than that one of them should land in jail. Mayor Mayne listened to the man's statement that "I didn't do anything to get in here." He called the "wife." First thing the mayor asked: "Are you married?" She replied affirmatively. Then as an afterthought she added: "I'm his common law wife. Just make him get his clothes and get out." It didn't take the mayor long to tell the man what to do, thusly: "Charlie, go get your clothes and get out of that house. You are divorced. Reno has nothing on us."

Minneapolis Martial Law Tires Public

General Public Becoming Fed Up On Strike Situation In City

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—Under the yoke of martial law in the truck drivers' strike, Minneapolis and its almost 500,000 residents today struggled along as best it could with business in some lines suffering and the general public getting a bit fed up on the whole situation.

The novelty of khaki-clad national guardsmen patrolling the streets has worn off. They have been on duty since last Thursday when Governor Floyd B. Olson called them out because, he said, a "state of insurrection" exists. There have been no serious disturbances since.

But the public has had to put up with a lot of inconveniences. Today the latest military ban went into effect—"no beer deliveries within the zone of martial law." That foreshadows a beer shortage.

Foreboding, according to the military ruling, is not a necessity. Trucks carrying necessities such as milk, ice, gasoline, farm products and supplies for hospitals are allowed to move.

Night club life has been restricted, too. Since martial law went into effect it is as if a midnight curfew had been established.

Racing in the downtown area in daytime is taboo. This interferes with the housewives who want to do a little shopping. And the department store owners certainly do not like it. The night automobile parking ban has been lifted and as a result the movie theatres have been doing a fine business.

New Trial Refused In Holliday Case

Judge Chambers Delivers Opinion In Dispute Over Hiram Holliday Will

In an opinion handed down at court by Judge James A. Chambers a new trial is refused in the case of Frank R. Holliday against Mrs. Jennie McNeish. This case, which grew out of a dispute over the will of the late Hiram Holliday, has been before the court for some time.

The principal question involved was whether or not, at the time of making the second will, Hiram Holliday, who was quite an old man, was in such a state of health as to render him competent to make a will. The question was submitted to a jury after considerable evidence as to Mr. Holliday's mental condition had been taken, and the jury found that he was competent to make the will. Under the court's ruling the estate goes to Frank R. Holliday and children.

NRA And AAA Programs Now Beginning To Be Criticized As Flaws In Recovery Plan

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Two serious flaws in the administration's recovery program are beginning to demonstrate themselves in a fashion too noticeable for even the most optimistic of administrationists to overlook.

They don't admit, for publication, that they see them. Nevertheless, talking confidentially with NRA and AAA experts, one soon ascertains that they clearly recognize this couple of vital mistakes—and that it is open to grave question whether or not they can be corrected now before they have caused a deal of trouble.

NRA already is in rough water. AAA perceives rough water ahead. NRA's plan called for the outset, for a system of individual readjustments necessarily involving a rise in prices. This advance has followed, not violently as yet, but somewhat. It continues to follow, and there are competent prophets who forecast plenty more of it to come.

Higher prices are all right if at least correspondingly higher incomes accompany them. If not—if incomes stay down and living costs go up—living standards are lowered inevitably.

NRA officials don't realize this. It realizes that incomes must be increased a little faster than prices, to prevent a reduction in living standards. But it also had a shrewd suspicion that prices would have to be increased considerably in order to increase employment and thus drag wages up, too.

In other words, it was essential to increase prices ahead of incomes, or incomes couldn't increase; equally essential to increase incomes ahead of prices, or trouble couldn't be avoided.

NRA accordingly applied itself to the difficult task of accomplishing two different things—both, or each, first.

Frankly, its economists never did hope to succeed. As Adviser Dexter M. Keezer of NRA's consumers' board admitted to me months ago, "We're trying to lift ourselves by our bootstraps; of course it won't work."

What the administration really reckoned on was this: 1. That folk who had had jobs all along would suffer from rising prices—until, gradually, their incomes had had time to rise also. 2. But that jobless folk would be so pleased at getting jobs again that they would fall to consider that they were worse off than before they lost their last jobs.

3. And that the re-employed, jobless contingent's rejoicings would drown out the other contingent's lamentations.

Such hasn't proved to be the case. The employed, who previously were employed, are quick to realize that, with rising prices, they are pinched. The re-employed are not as had been expected, forgetful of the fact that they were better off before they lost their last employment. Even the previously unemployed, who now are drawing government pay, are resentful that they are, as many of them feel, in a sense upon a charity basis.

If this is unsound reasoning, how account for the epidemic of strikes throughout the country?

Now, widespread strikes retard recovery; everyone concedes it. Still, they may be necessary, to enable labor to resist its permanent deflation under New Deal influences. Surely it can't be said, however, that such influences, counteracting their own purpose, to re-establish prosperity, are operating satisfactorily.

AAA's mission has been to improve agriculture's status by inducing (and coercing) it into curtailing production.

Between this curtailment and an unprecedented drought, production has been so limited as to threaten an actual shortage. Famine prices are high, to be sure, but that sort of high prices are not advantageous to a country. No one ever heard a food shortage described as beneficial to any nation—though possibly it may be profitable to a few hoarders.

The drought hasn't made its effects very obvious yet, but perhaps it will before the next harvest.

NRA, then, may not have caused strikes, but it hasn't prevented them.

AAA won't prove to have succeeded in producing a famine (the United States has too much elasticity for that), but that was the direction that its experiment took. The creation of strike conditions and a food shortage are fine steps for a government to have taken toward restoring prosperity!

Two Dories Containing Captain And Eight Men Of Sunken Schooner, Reach Land

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., July 30.—A real drama of the sea came to a happy ending here today and proved once again that human fortitude and faith can overcome the most powerful obstacles.

The central figures were Captain Walter Crouse and eight men of the Lunenburg fishing schooner As-trid W.

Six days ago a mysterious explosion wrecked the schooner while the ship was off the Grand Banks and the nine men took to the sea in two dories.

With only a meagre supply of food and water they began a grim fight for their lives which did not end until late yesterday when the two dories drifted into Arichat, a small settlement on the Cape Breton coast.

The people of Arichat, when they saw the men row in, rushed to meet them and provided them with every care.

Five other members of the crew were rescued by the Danish steamer Arichat and landed at Sydney, N. S. Captain Crouse was unable to tell what caused the explosion.

Over 75 members and their families participated in the outing. Heading the general committee on arrangements which supervised the plans and the program was Arthur Carpenter. Prizes were awarded to winners in almost 15 contest events. The mushball game played between the Keystone-Lawrence team and the Walker's Beach A. C. ended with the beach crew as victors, 12 to 4.

Minneapolis Martial Law Tires Public

International News Service Staff Correspondent

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—Under the yoke of martial law in the truck drivers' strike, Minneapolis and its almost 500,000 residents today struggled along as best it could with business in some lines suffering and the general public getting a bit fed up on the whole situation.

The novelty of khaki-clad national guardsmen patrolling the streets has worn off. They have been on duty since last Thursday when Governor Floyd B. Olson called them out because, he said, a "state of insurrection" exists. There have been no serious disturbances since.

But the public has had to put up with a lot of inconveniences. Today the latest military ban went into effect—"no beer deliveries within the zone of martial law." That foreshadows a beer shortage.

Beer, according to the military ruling, is not a necessity. Trucks carrying necessities such as milk, ice, gasoline, farm products and supplies for hospitals are allowed to move.

Parking in the downtown area in daytime is taboo. This interferes with the housewives who want to do a little shopping. And the department store owners certainly do not like it. The night automobile parking ban has been lifted and as a result the movie theatres have been doing a fine business.

Minneapolis Martial Law Tires Public

International News Service Staff Correspondent

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—Under the yoke of martial law in the truck drivers' strike, Minneapolis and its almost 500,000 residents today struggled along as best it could with business in some lines suffering and the general public getting a bit fed up on the whole situation.

The novelty of khaki-clad national guardsmen patrolling the streets has worn off. They have been on duty since last Thursday when Governor Floyd B. Olson called them out because, he said, a "state of insurrection" exists. There have been no serious disturbances since.

But the public has had to put up with a lot of inconveniences. Today the latest military ban went into effect—"no beer deliveries within the zone of martial law." That foreshadows a beer shortage.

Beer, according to the military ruling, is not a necessity. Trucks carrying necessities such as milk, ice, gasoline, farm products and supplies for hospitals are allowed to move.

Night club life has been restricted, too. Since martial law went into effect it is as if a midnight curfew had been established.

Parking in the downtown area in daytime is a taboo. This interferes with the housewives who want to do a little shopping. And the department store owners certainly do not like it. The night automobile parking ban has been lifted and as a result the movie theatres have been doing a fine business.

Pittsburgh Man Leaves Will And Friendly Advice

Entreats Six Children To Live Moral Lives And Take Care Of Church And Money

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 30.—A posthumous entreaty to his six children to "live good and moral lives and take care of your inheritance and church duties" was contained today in the will of John Friend, Sr., who died here on July 17.

Varying shares of his $20,000 estate were given to the children, Matilda F. Gump, John H. Jr., Thirsa Parrot, Conrad A. Joseph A. and Thomas J. Friend.

The testament said: "Please God that all my children are satisfied with my last request. If any of them are dissatisfied, they shall be cut off with $5, and his or her share be divided equally among the other five."

In an opinion handed down at court by Judge James A. Chambers a new trial is refused in the case of Frank R. Holliday against Jennie McNeish. This case, which grew out of a dispute over the will of the late Hiram Holliday, has been before the court for some time.

Mrs. McNeish was a legatee under a first will but in a later will the property was left to Frank R. Holliday and his children.

The principal question involved was whether or not, at the time of making the second will, Hiram Holliday, who was quite an old man, was in such a state of health as to render him competent to make a will. The question was submitted to a jury after considerable evidence as to Mr. Holliday's mental condition had been taken, and the jury found that he was competent to make the will. Under the court's ruling the estate goes to Frank R. Holliday and his children.

NRA And AAA Programs Now Beginning To Be Criticized As Flaws In Recovery Plan

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Two serious flaws in the administration's recovery program are beginning to demonstrate themselves in a fashion too noticeable for even the most optimistic of administrationists to overlook.

They don't admit, for publication, that the program is not working.

Nevertheless, talking confidentially with NRA and AAA experts, one soon ascertains that they clearly recognize this couple of vital mistakes—and that it is open to grave question whether or not they can be corrected now before they have caused a deal of trouble.

NRA already is in rough water. AAA perceives rough water ahead.

NRA's plan called, from the outset, for a system of individual readjustments necessarily involving a rise in prices. This advance has followed, not violently as yet, but somewhat.

It continues to follow, and there are competent prophets who forecast plenty more of it to come.

Higher prices are all right if at least correspondingly higher incomes accompany them. If not—if incomes stay down and living costs go up—living standards are lowered.

NRA officials don't realize this. It realizes that incomes must be increased a little faster than prices, to prevent a reduction in living standards. But it also has a shrewd suspicion that prices would have to be increased considerably in order to increase employment and thus drag wages up, too.

In other words, it was essential to increase prices ahead of incomes, or incomes couldn't increase ahead of prices, or trouble couldn't be avoided.

NRA accordingly applied itself to the difficult task of accomplishing two different things—both, or each, first.

Frankly, its economists never did hope to succeed. As Adviser Dexter M. Rogers of NRA's consumers' board admitted to me months ago, "We're trying to lift ourselves by our bootstraps; of course it won't work."

What the administration really reckoned on was this:

1. That folk who had had jobs all along would suffer from rising prices until, gradually, their incomes had had time to rise also.

2. But that jobless folk would be so pleased at getting jobs again that they would fall to consider that they were worse off than before they lost their last jobs.

3. And that the re-employed jobless contingent would be so less contented that they would drop out of the other contingent's lamentations.

Such hasn't proved to be the case. The employed, who previously had been rising prices, they are not as had been expected, forgetful of the fact that they were better off before they lost their last employment. Even the previously unemployed, who now are drawing government pay, are resentful that they are many of them feel, in a sense upon a charity basis.

If this is unsound reasoning, how account for the epidemic of strikes throughout the country?

Now, widespread strikes retard recovery, everyone concedes it. Still, they may be necessary, to enable labor to resist its permanent deflation under New Deal influences. Surely it can't be said, however, that such influences, counteracting their own purpose, to re-establish prosperity, are operating satisfactorily.

AAA's mission has been to improve agriculture's status by inducing (and coercing) it into curtailing production.

Between this curtailment and an unprecedented drought, production has been so limited as to threaten an actual shortage. Famine prices are high, to be sure, but that sort of high prices are not advantageous to a country. No one ever heard a food shortage described as beneficial to any nation—though possibly it may be profitable to a few hoarders.

The drought hasn't made its effects very obvious yet, but perhaps it will before the next harvest.

Two Dories Containing Captain And Eight Men Of Sunken Schooner, Reach Land

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., July 30.—A real drama of the sea came to a happy ending here today and proved once again that human fortitude and faith can overcome the most powerful of obstacles.

The central figures were Captain Walter Crouse and eight men of the Lunenburg fishing schooner Astrid W.

Six days ago a mysterious explosion wrecked the schooner while the ship was off the Grand Banks and the nine men took to the sea in two dories.

With only a meagre supply of food and water they began a grim fight for their lives which did not end until late yesterday when the two dories drifted onto Arichat, a small settlement on the Cape Breton coast.

The people of Arichat, when they saw the men row in rushed to meet them and provided them with every care.

Five other members of the crew were rescued by the Danish steamer Arichat and landed at Sydney, N. S. Captain Crouse was unable to tell what caused the explosion.

New Castle Slandered By Paper In Sharon

Accuracy is one of the cardinal virtues in newspaper work. A reporter is never justified in writing an untruth, intentionally, and unless he is absolutely sure of his facts he is not justified in writing the article at all. When the story reflects in any way upon a person, an organization or a city and that reflection is a false one both the reporter and the newspaper are guilty of unethical practices.

With this prelude The News reproduces herewith an article appearing Saturday in the Sharon News-Telegraph concerning the epidemic of typhoid fever reported among employees of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, which played New Castle Friday, July 13.

"Seventy-seven performers, trainers and other employees of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, are in Detroit, Mich., hospitals, suffering from typhoid fever, it was learned from a contact at New Castle. "Half of the circus employees hospitalized in Detroit are definitely known to have the disease while the remainder are borderline cases.

"It is believed the contagion was developed when the circus was located at the Mahoningtown showgrounds, just south of the city.

"A branch of the Shenango river runs through the New Castle circus field, and as other water is scarce, it may be that the performers caught the disease from this stream."

The article is false, both in its supposed facts and inferences. First of all the circus did not show on the Mahoningtown grounds but on the Rosena Furnace grounds which are three miles north of Mahoningtown.

Second, the Rosena grounds are not on the Shenango river but are on the Neshannock river.

Third, there has not been a shortage of water in New Castle this summer, on the contrary there has been an abundant supply of city water and the record of the New Castle Water Company is one of water purity of a high standard.

Fourth, typhoid fever does not develop immediately after exposure but takes about 30 days. The epidemic broke out in Detroit about ten days after the show played New Castle, which clears the city of suspicion even if the other factors were not present.

Fifth, there has not been a case of typhoid fever in New Castle in years. There are physicians practicing here who have five to ten years experience back of them who have never been called upon to treat a case of typhoid and actually have never seen a case of it.

Nobody who knows anything about the facts in the case "believes" that the epidemic of typhoid originated in New Castle. Such a statement of belief is the product of an unformed mind to say the least. As a piece of journalism that is 100 percent wrong the article reproduced from the Sharon News-Telegraph would certainly be in line for a Pulitzer prize if the Pulitzer foundation offered prizes for such things.

New Castle Slandered By Paper In Sharon

Accuracy is one of the cardinal virtues in newspaper work. A reporter is never justified in writing an untruth, intentionally, and unless he is absolutely sure of his facts he is not justified in writing the article at all. When the story reflects in any way upon a person, an organization or a city and that reflection is a false one both the reporter and the newspaper are guilty of unethical practices.

With this prelude The News reproduces herewith an article appearing Saturday in the Sharon News-Telegraph concerning the epidemic of typhoid fever reported among employees of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus, which played New Castle Friday, July 13.

"Seventy-seven performers, trainers and other employees of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, are in Detroit, Mich., hospitals, suffering from typhoid fever believed to have been contracted at New Castle. "Half of the circus employees hospitalized in Detroit are definitely known to have the disease while the remainder are borderline cases.

"It is believed the contagion was developed when the circus was located at the Mahoningtown showgrounds, just south of the city.

"A branch of the Shnango river runs through the New Castle circus field, and as other water is scarce, it may be that the performers caught the disease from this stream."

The article is false, both in its supposed facts and inferences.

First of all the circus did not show on the Mahoningtown grounds but on the Rosena Furnace grounds which are three miles north of Mahoningtown.

Second, the Rosena grounds are not on the Shnango river but are on the Neshannock river.

Third, there has not been a shortage of water in New Castle this summer, on the contrary there has been an abundant supply of city water and the record of the New Castle Water Company is one of water purity of a high standard.

Fourth, typhoid fever does not develop immediately after exposure but takes about 30 days. The epi-demio broke out in Detroit about ten days after the show played New Castle, which clears the city of suspicion even if the other factors were not present.

Fifth, there has not been a case of typhoid fever in New Castle in years. There are physicians practicing here who have five to ten years experience back of them who have never been called upon to treat a case of typhoid and actually have never seen a case of it.

Nobody who knows anything about the facts in the case "believes" that the epidemic of typhoid originated in New Castle. Such a statement of belief is the product of an uninformed mind to say the least. As a piece of journalism that is 100 per cent wrong the article reproduced from the Sharon News-Telegraph would certainly be in line for a Pulitzer prize if the Pulitzer foundation offered prizes for such things.

New Castle Slandered By Paper In Sharon

Accuracy is one of the cardinal virtues in newspaper work. A reporter is never justified in writing an untruth, intentionally, and unless he is absolutely sure of his facts he is not justified in writing the article at all. When the story reflects in any way upon a person, an organization or a city and that reflection is a false one both the reporter and the newspaper are guilty of unethical practices.

With this in mind The News reproduces herewith an article appearing Saturday in the Sharon News-Telegraph concerning the epidemic of typhoid fever reported among employees of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus, which played New Castle Friday, July 13.

"Seventy-seven performers, trainers and other employees of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, are in Detroit, Mich., hospitals, suffering from typhoid fever believed to have been contracted at New Castle.

"Half of the circus employees hospitalized in Detroit are definitely known to have the disease while the remainder are borderline cases.

"It is believed the contagion was developed when the circus was located at the Mahoningtown showgrounds, just south of the city.

"A branch of the Shnango river runs through the New Castle circus field, and as other water is scarce, it may be that the performers caught the disease from this stream.

The article is false, both in its supposed facts and inferences.

First of all the circus did not show on the Mahoningtown grounds but on the Rosena Furnace grounds which are three miles north of Mahoningtown.

Second, the Rosena grounds are not on the Shnango river but are on the Neshannock river.

Third, there has not been a shortage of water in New Castle this summer, on the contrary there has been an abundant supply of city water and the record of the New Castle Water Company is one of water purity of a high standard.

Fourth, typhoid fever does not develop immediately after exposure but takes about 30 days. The epidemic broke out in Detroit about ten days after the show played New Castle, which clears the city of suspicion even if the other factors were not present.

Fifth, there has not been a case of typhoid fever in New Castle in years. There are physicians practicing here who have five to ten years experience back of them who have never been called upon to treat a case of typhoid and actually have never seen a case of it.

Nobody who knows anything about the facts in the case "believes" that the epidemic of typhoid originated in New Castle. Such a statement of belief is the product of an unfounded mind to say the least. As a piece of journalism that is 100 per cent wrong the article reproduced from the Sharon News-Telegraph certainly will be in line for a Pulitzer prize if the Pulitzer foundation offered prizes for such things.

DEMONSTRATION FOR FUNERAL

National Guard On Alert For Trouble At Kohler, Wisconsin

Truck Overtakes Near New Kensington Carrying Picnic Crowd

(International News Service)
Motor traffic on Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey highways declined sharply over the week-end, resulting today in a reduced death toll, although the number of persons injured soared.

Three persons were killed in Pennsylvania and three near its eastern border line in New Jersey. The number injured, however, exceeded the century mark. The most disastrous accident occurred at New Kensington when a truck, carrying a group of church picnickers overturned, injuring 55, eight of them seriously. A broken front spring was believed to have caused the crash.

Auto Hits Truck
George Patterson, 21, of Medford, N. J., was almost instantly killed when his automobile crashed into the rear of an alcohol-laden truck on a back road near Indian Mills. The driver of the truck, which was loaded with 192 gallons of grain alcohol, fled and Patterson was taken to a Mount Holly hospital by a passing motorist. He was dead before arrival at the hospital.

State police said the truck belonged to Sam Paulino of Trenton, who was being sought for questioning. While playing about a filling station at Downton, N. J., 18-months-old Theresa Porcanak of Johnstown, Pa., was struck and killed by a truck. The driver did not see the child and threw the truck in reverse, passing over her body.

Thrown from Car
Louis Tomassello, 34, of Hammononton, N. J., was killed when thrown from an automobile near De Costa, N. J., after the car had crashed into a telephone pole. Tomassello's neck was broken. The driver, Ernest Santora, also of Hammononton, was held under $5,000 bail.

Struck by an automobile which was being backed out of a garage at the rear of his home in Philadelphia, David Barlut, 17, died in Mercier hospital. Joseph Keenan, 45, driver of the car, told police he did not see Barlut standing in the driveway.

Victory Rush, 72, of Nesheim, Bucks county, died after being run down by an automobile on Easton road, not far from his home. The driver of the car, Robert Kirk, 42, of Syracuse, N. Y., told authorities the aged man had been hit by an automobile immediately ahead of him and was thrown into the path of his machine. Nevertheless, Kirk was held under $2,500 bail.

Truck Crashes
New Kensington, Pa., July 30.—A 14-year-old girl, one of eight persons seriously injured when a truck in which they were riding left a highway and crashed, burning 55 yesterday, fought for her life in Citizens General hospital here today.

Although she has regained consciousness, hospital authorities held little hope for the recovery of Anna Moskowsky, East Pittsburgh, whose leg was badly crushed and torn when the truck, hauling a human cargo into a heap after hitting two telephone poles and overturning. Jacob H. Jessup, East Pittsburgh, driver of the vehicle carrying the 55 members of St. John's Greek Catholic Russian Orthodox church on an outing, was released on his recognizance after being questioned by state highway patrolmen. After listening to his account of the crash patrolmen expressed the belief that a front spring broke, causing the heavy truck to sway and leave the highway.

Another General Strike.

Octuplets in China.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE HOME NEWS tells of government trying to help depression and idleness by financing, with tens of millions lent to New York, another tunnel under the Hudson river, and workers saying they will strike.

What is more, they will hold up work on all the "heavy construction work" under way, which would mean a sum of about six hundred millions taken from the wages and material purchases.

The trouble, according to labor leaders, is that contractors are hiring less skilled workers, paying them out of government money, only eighty to ninety cents an hour, when they should be hiring more highly skilled men and paying from $1.45 to $1.85 an hour. Mr. Johnson, for the union workers, says:

"We will discuss the advisability of a general strike in New York City and New Jersey."

AFTER SAN FRANCISCO, Mr. Johnson should think carefully about a "general strike," rather seeking some milder way of getting rid of the laboring common men at 80 to 90 cents an hour, in favor of better men at $1.45 to $1.85 an hour. Union labor says the contractors underbid other contractors on the tunnel job by $900,000 because they were planning to hire cheap men at 80 to 90 cents an hour. How foolish, you will agree, to underbid when taxpayers foot the bill.

SERIOUS TALK of war in Europe, and a former American representative in Austria predicts that it will be the bloodiest war in history. It would be a war of bitter class and religious hatred, worse than any old-fashioned war of kings, fighting about land or women, or any modern war of commercial kings, fighting for business.

THE SWISS are hastening their annual maneuvers, keeping the army, which means very able-bodied Swiss, in readiness.

But 500,000 brave, well-armed Swiss fighters could do little in modern war against airplanes. The high mountains and narrow passes offer no obstacles to airmen. There would be no modern drench diese hohe Gasse muss er kommen.

Britain, unofficially, says: "It is not our war. We did not shoot Duffuss and we do not propose to be dragged in."

Wise British. They remember the other war. Let us hope this country will not be dragged in, persuaded that even if we did not shoot Duffuss we are in some strange way responsible for his shooting, or at least, that we should prove our national cowardice if we stayed out and our Shylock character if we refused to finance the fighting fools. We can never feel entirely safe, for some "great American" might be invited with his wife to sleep in Buckingham Palace, and we know what that costs. About two and a half billions a night, last time.

CHINA ANNOUNCES the arrival of eight babies at one birth, seven boys and one girl, born on a fishing boat.

GOV. ELY of Massachusetts, Democrat, is worried about the New Deal. "With no criticism of the President," he fears that NRA paternalism will destroy the welfare of a people.

"made happy, contented and prosperous by the rugged individualism of the past." In fact, he fears the New Deal may develop a socialist state.

QUESTION, what IS socialism? Does that word mean, as it did originally, a benevolent desire to improve social conditions under which men live? Does it mean the more drastic, but law-abiding socialism of the late Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, who demanded changes by the popular vote only? Does it mean the socialist plans of the Jewish philosopher, Karl Marx, twisted by Russia into her brand of communism? Public schools, public parks, public libraries were called outrageous socialism before they became established. What is socialism?

MARVIN NELSON won the second annual $10,000 William Randolph Hearst-Chicago Herald and Examiner 45-mile swimming race. Nelson, out of the water and finishing dinner before anybody else finished the 15 miles, covered the dis-stance in 7 hours 54 minutes 5 seconds, about two miles an hour.

That speed would amuse the smallest minnow, but in human beings it is SWIMMING and not SPEED in swimming that counts. Every man may at some time in his life depend on his ability to swim. If he can swim 15 miles, as any man of average strength can, with a little practice, he may consider himself safe on the water.

MR. WALTER WINCHELL, writing concerning "Things I never knew 'til now about Hollywood," says "Blind persons need no ticket to symphony concerts."

That is pleasant news in this kind of civilization. In the ancient times any expectant mother could take for her own use fruit from any orchard, with nobody to disturb her. Now they would put her in jail. In ancient times a mother contributing a child to the population was looked upon as a public benefactor. They needed men for fighting. At present new babies represent increase of unemployment.

Will Object To Eastman's Plan

Railroad Merger Would Be Opposed By New Castle Council

Suggested merger of the Pennsylvania and Ohio railroads, would seriously affect the city of New Castle, according to F. E. Sittig and M. B. Mabe who appeared before city council today.

Following Sittig's remarks the council said in all probability the city would lodge a resolution of objection with Railroad Coordinator Eastman and President Roosevelt.

Under the suggested plans it was pointed out that if the P. R. R. handled passenger service from Pittsburgh and into Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, this city would be off the main passenger line. It would ultimately result in employment for probably 300 men and result in no benefit for this city.

Council indicated that the solicitor would be instructed to draft a resolution expressing the city's opposition to such a plan.

Police Officer Is Suspended

Fred Harlan, member of the city police force, has been suspended indefinitely by Police Chief Haven. He is alleged to have driven in his automobile while on duty Saturday night.

CHINA ANNOUNCES the arrival of eight babies at one birth, seven boys and one girl, born on a fishing junk in the delta of Pearl River.

The father is Sam Ting, a poor fisherman, the mother, Mrs. Ting, receives little notice. In China, the arrival of one male child is most important and Chinese newspapers hail father Sam Ting as a benefactor of his country. Think of seven male infants, all at once; what a pity one girl should have spoiled a perfect picture by "muscling in," as we say in America.

CHINA TAKES the "eight at a time, all doing well" story seriously, but western obstetricians will not do that. Eight babies born at once on a fishing junk, in poverty and filth, with no doctor, and no knowledge of aseptic methods, would have little chance.

As for poor, neglected Mrs. Sam Ting, someone should send her a kind word, and a new dress or two.

WHETHER our North American quintuplets, the little Dionnes, are eclipsed or no, you will be glad to hear that they were thriving on their two months birthday last week.

The Canadian authority in Ontario says haughtily that United States greed shall not prevail, and the little five shall not go to Chicago's Century of Progress exposition, there to be looked upon by crowds more interested in birth control than in quintuplets.

In spite of our well-known love of an extra dollar, many Americans will be glad to hear that the little babies will stay at home, glad to hear that father Dionne has been getting $100 a week, on his promise to ship the babies to a Chicago exhibitor as soon as possible, with a promise of $200 a week and half the net profits. In fact, the babies do not "belong" in a Century of Progress exposition. Progress consists in special care and education, not in numbers. Alexander the Great, his queen mother's only child, with Aristotle for a teacher, is better even than seven little Chinese boys and one girl, all in a row.

"BEST MINDS" that have been excited about union labor refusing to accept arbitration, and abide by it, may now admire the Minneapolis employers that refuse to accept a decision rendered by President Roosevelt's federal conciliators, the Rev. Father Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan.

Gov. Olson, of Minnesota, has declared martial law, under the circumstances, and sarcastic labor men want to know if the government will deport any employers found to be aliens.

THE GOVERNOR, declaring martial law, undertakes to tell Minnesota newspapers what they may print. The editors indicate that they will continue to use their own judgment about that.

The governor's proclamation says newspapers must print nothing to dishonor the National Guard. No editor intended to do anything like that.

GOV. ELY of Massachusetts, Democrat, is worried about the New Deal. "With no criticism of the President," he fears that "NRA paternalism will destroy the welfare of a people, 'made happy, contented and prosperous by the rugged individualism of the past.' In fact, he fears the New Deal may develop a socialist state.

QUESTION, what IS socialism? Does that word mean, as it did originally, a benevolent desire to improve social conditions under which men live? Does it mean the more drastic, but law-abiding socialism of the late Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, who demanded changes by the popular vote only? Does it mean the socialist plans of the Jewish philosopher, Karl Marx, twisted by Russia into her brand of communism? Public schools, public parks, public libraries were called outrageous socialism before they became established. What is socialism?

MARVIN NELSON won the second annual $10,000 William Randolph Hearst-Chicago Herald and Examiner 15-mile swimming race. Nelson, out of the water and finishing dinner, before anybody else finished the 15 miles, covered the distance in 7 hours 54 minutes 5 seconds, about two miles an hour. That speed would amuse the smallest minnow, but in human beings it is SWIMMING and not SPEED in swimming that counts. Every man may at some time in his life depend on his ability to swim. If he can swim 15 miles, as any man of average strength can, with a little practice, he may consider himself safe on the water.

MR. WALTER WINCHELL, writing concerning "Things I never knew 'til now about Hollywood," says "Blind persons need no ticket to symphony concerts."

That is pleasant news in this kind of civilization. In the ancient times any expectant mother could take for her own use fruit from any orchard, with nobody to disturb her. Now they would put her in jail. In ancient times a mother contributing a child to the population was looked upon as a public benefactress. They needed men for fighting. At present new babies represent increase of unemployment.

Mercer Coal Man Dies At His Home

F. P. Filer, Mine Pioneer and Prominent Mason, Succumbs To Heart Trouble

Frank P. Filer, aged 70, died at his home in Mercer Sunday, July 29, following a long illness of heart trouble.

Mr. Filer was born in Hickory township, the son of Enoch and Elizabeth Filer, and had spent his lifetime in Mercer county as a coal operator. He was superintendent of the mines of the Sharon Coal & Limestone company over a period of 33 years, and retired only when his health would not permit his taking active interest in his duties. He was one of the pioneers of the bituminous coal industry and had operated mines at Jackson Center, Grove City and Pardoe.

At the time of his death Mr. Filer was the nominee of the Democratic party for state senate in the district of Mercer and Crawford counties.

He was a member of the F. and A. M. of the 33rd degree and was active in Masonic circles. He was a member of the Mercer Presbyterian church and a member of its board of trustees. He also headed the relief work in Mercer.

Will Object To Eastman's Plan

Railroad Merger Would Be Opposed By New Castle Council

Suggested merger of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, would seriously affect the city of New Castle according to F. F. Sittig and M. R. Mabe who appeared before city council today.

Following Sittig's remarks the council said in all probability the city would lodge a resolution of objection with Railroad Coordinator Eastman and President Roosevelt.

Under the suggested plans it was pointed out that if the P. R. R. "handled" passenger service from Pittsburgh and into Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, this city would be off the main passenger line. It would ultimately curtail employment for probably 300 men and result in no benefit for this city.

Council indicated that the solicitor would be instructed to draft a resolution expressing the city's opposition to such a plan.

Police Officer Is Suspended

Fred Harlan, member of the city police force, has been suspended indefinitely by Police Chief Haven. He is alleged to have driven in his automobile while on duty Saturday night.

Sometime ago the police chief issued orders that no policeman should drive his car and park it on his "beat" while he was on duty.

It isn't hard to be popular. All the world loves a good customer.

WEEK END TRAFFIC TOLL IN STATE LOWER

Many Picnickers Hurt In Accident

Truck Overturns Near New Kensington Carrying Picnic Crowd

FEWER DEATHS ARE REPORTED IN STATE

(International News Service)
Motor traffic on Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey highways declined sharply over the week-end, resulting today in a reduced death toll, although the number of persons injured soared.

Three persons were killed in Pennsylvania and three near its eastern border line in New Jersey. The number injured, however, exceeded the century mark.

The most disastrous accident occurred at New Kensington when a truck, carrying a group of church picnickers overturning, injured 55, eight of them seriously. A broken front spring was believed to have caused the crash.

Auto Hits Truck
George Batterson, 21, of Medford, N. J., was almost instantly killed when his automobile crashed into the rear of an alcohol-laden truck on a back road near Indian Mills.

The driver of the truck, which was loaded with 192 gallons of grain alcohol, fled and Batterson was taken to a Mount Holly hospital by a passing motorist. He was dead before arrival at the hospital.

State police said the truck belonged to Sam Paulino of Trenton, who was being sought for questioning. While playing about a filling station at Downton, N. J., 15-months-old Theresa Porcanak of Johnstown, Pa., was struck and killed by a truck. The driver did not see the child and threw the truck in reverse, passing over her body.

Thrown from Car
Louis Tomasello, 34, of Hammonton, N. J., was killed when thrown from an automobile near De Costa, N. J., after the car had crashed into a telephone pole. Tomasello's neck was broken. The driver, Ernest Santora, also of Hammonton, was held under $5,000 bail.

Struck by an automobile which was being backed out of a garage at the rear of his home in Philadelphia, David Barlut, 17, died in Misericordia hospital. Joseph Keenan, 45, driver of the car, told police he did not see Barlut standing in the driveway.

Victory Rush, 72, of Nesheim, Bucks county, died after being run down by an automobile on Easton road, not far from his home. The driver of the car, Robert Kirk, 42, of Syracuse, N. Y., told authorities the aged man had been hit by an automobile immediately ahead of him and was thrown into the path of his machine. Nevertheless, Kirk was held under $2,500 bail.

Truck Crashes
New Kensington, Pa., July 30.—A 14-year-old girl, one of eight persons seriously injured when a truck in which they were riding left a highway and crashed, hurting 55 yesterday, fought for her life in Citizens General hospital here today.

Although she has regained consciousness, hospital authorities held little hope for the recovery of Anna Moskowsky, East Pittsburgh, whose leg was badly crushed and torn when the truck hurled its human cargo into a heap after hitting two telephone poles and overturning.

Jacob H. Jessup, East Pittsburgh, driver of the vehicle carrying the 55 members of St. John's Greek Catholic Russian Orthodox church on an outing, was released on his recognizance after being questioned by state highway patrolmen. After listening to his account of the crash patrolmen expressed the belief that a front spring broke, causing the heavy truck to sway and leave the highway.

Another General Strike.
War Talk in Europe.
Will They Hand Us The War?
Octuplets in China.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE HOME NEWS tells of government trying to help depression and idleness by financing, with tens of millions lent to New York, another tunnel under the Hudson river, and workers saying they will strike.

What is more, they will hold up work on all the "heavy construction work" under way, which would mean a sum of about six hundred millions taken from the wages and material purchases.

The trouble, according to labor leaders, is that contractors are hiring less skilled workers, paying them out of government money, only eighty to ninety cents an hour, when they should be hiring more highly skilled men and paying from $1.45 to $1.85 an hour. Mr. Johnson, for the union workers, says:

"We will discuss the advisability of a general strike in New York City and New Jersey."

AFTER SAN FRANCISCO, Mr. Johnson should think carefully about a "general strike," rather seeking some milder way of getting rid of the laboring common men at 80 to 90 cents an hour in favor of better men at $1.45 to $1.85 an hour.

Union labor says the contractors underbid other contractors on the tunnel job by $900,000 because they were planning to hire cheap men at 80 to 90 cents an hour. How foolish, you will agree, to underbid when taxpayers foot the bills.

SERIOUS TALK of war in Europe, and a former American representative in Austria predicts that it will be the bloodiest war in history. It would be a war of bitter class and religious hatred, worse than any old-fashioned war of kings, fighting about land or women, or any modern war of commercial kings, fighting for business.

THE SWISS are ha-ening their annual maneuvers, keeping the army, which means every able-bodied Swiss, in readiness.

But 500,000 brave, well-armed Swiss fighters could do little in modern war against airplanes. The high mountains and narrow passes offer no obstacles to airmen. There would be no modern church diese bohe Gasse muss er kommen.

Britain, unofficially, says: "It is not our war. We do not shoot Dollfus and do not propose to be dragged in." Wise British. They remember the other war.

Let us hope this country will not be dragged in, persuaded that even if we did not shoot Dollfus we are in some strange way responsible for his shooting, at least, that we should prove our national cowardice if we stayed out and our Shynlock character if we refused to finance the fighting fools. We can never feel entirely safe, for some "great American" might be invited with his wife to sleep in Buckingham Palace, and we know that that costs. About two and a half billions a night, last time.

Giants Split With Phillies

Carl Hubbell Holds Phils Safe After Giants Drop First Game

INDIANS WIN TWO FROM ST. LOUIS

International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Winning crucial ball games is a serious and difficult matter for most big league managers, but for Manager Will Terry of the world's champion New York Giants the problem is simplicity itself. When Terry feels that he simply has to win a specific game he calls upon Carl Hubbell to do the pitching and the thing is settled.

After 32,000 displeased spectators saw the Giants drop a 4-2 decision to the Phillies, Terry sent Hubbell to the mound for the second game of a doubleheader and Carl not only blanked the Quakers, but held them to four scattered hits. The score was 2-0. The victory enabled the Giants to maintain a 3½-game advantage over the second place Chicago Cubs.

Cubs-Reds Split.

The Cubs, playing at Cincinnati, were held to an even break by the Reds, making their first appearance under the leadership of Chuck Dressen, late of Nashville. The Cubs, behind Pat Malone, won the first game 7 to 3, but in the finale the Rhinelanders got excellent pitching from Tony Freitas and emerged on top by a score of 4 to 2.

At Pittsburgh Jimmy Collins' 23rd home run of the season was the vital factor in the defeat of the Pirates by the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 5.

The hapless Brooklyn Dodgers are in seventh place today as a result of the double beating handed them by the Boston Braves at Ebbets field. Brooklyn, in the first game, Ed Brandt outpitched Van Mungo, the act of the Dodgers' staff, to win, 5 to 2, while in the nightcap Flint Rhem held the Stengels men to one lone hit and as a result won a sweet 1-0 victory over Johnny Babich.

In the American league Mickey Cochrane's astonishing Tigers split a double-header with the Chicago White Sox, and as a result now enjoy a full game lead over the Yankees.

The Cleveland Indians won a double-header from the St. Louis Browns, 11-5 and 6-2.

Rain prevented the Boston-Washington game.

Boro A. C. Tops Wampum 5 To 2

Boro A. C. topped the Wampum team of the Independent league at the Leigh field by a score of 5 to 2. Bigley held the Wampumites to six hits and fanned four men. Boro had nine hits off of Ferrucci. Tanner, Grednick and Price hit the ball hard.

THE SPORT PATROL

FUTURE MAJOR LEAGUERS

The International League this season could form a team of young players which, in a year or two may be an All-Star aggregation of major leaguers. All of the players mentioned below appear to be ready for major league service.

Hollingsworth, p., Toronto
Kleinke, p., Rochester
Schott, p., Toronto
Blanton, p., Albany
Carmichael, p., Albany
Mize, 1b., Rochester
Carey, 2b., Rochester
Molesworth, ss., Baltimore
Kroner, 3b., Baltimore
Powell, of., Albany
Abernathy, of., Baltimore
Singleton, of., Albany

Most of these players are out on option or have strong strings attached to them so have a pretty good idea where they will receive their 1935 trials. Abernathy, Powell, and Molesworth, however, should have several clubs clamoring for them.

Kellingsworth and Schott belong to Cincinnati, and with the Red pitching staff such as it is there should be plenty of room for both of them. Hollingsworth is the southpaw who recently defeated the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition game. Gene Schott is a 21 year old right-hander who hails from Cincinnati. Pittsburgh may not wait until the end of the season to recall Cy Blanton who is hanging up quite a strike-out record. Cy isn't very hefty but manages to show quite a bit of speed. Kleinke has come up the Cardinal ladder. He should reach the top rung next season.

Joe Glavin was good enough to catch for many major league teams this season but he had the misfortune to have the Yankee backstops, Dickey and Jorgens, ahead of him. He is certain to be up again for another trial.

Johnny Mize is a hard hitting first baseman who should prove valuable to the Cardinals. However, Johnny has suffered injuries which have laid him out most of the season. He is now back in harness and apparently has not lost his batting eye. Not far behind Mize is McGuinn, Toronto first baseman, who belongs to the Yankees.

Tom Carey's regular position is short but he has been moved to second to make room for Molesworth. Tom will be 26 in October so should be ready to stick this time. He is hitting at a .318 clip for Rochester.

Kelth Molesworth is probably better known as a football star than a baseball player. For a number of years he has been the quarterback of the Chicago Bears, 1933 National Professional champions. Though he is a little weak at the plate, a number of scouts are trailing him.

John Kroner, 25 year old St. Louis boy, was picked up by the Phillies last fall as a free agent. His .329 batting average at Baltimore should warrant a further trial for him.

Abernathy, Powell, and Singleton give the outfield tremendous power at the plate. Woodley Abernathy, 200 pound, 6 foot 2 giant, is batting .317. At 25 years of age, with previous experience in the Southern and Southeastern leagues, he should be ready for the majors. Alvin Powell is leading the league with a .330 average. Fred Singleton, his teammate, is batting .368. Fred is a former All-American tackle at Alabama.

Local Golfers In Pittsburgh For Tournament

Public Links Golfers Are Set For Qualifying Round This Morning

New Castle's public links golfers are in Pittsburgh today playing the first qualifying round of the national public links tournament.

The players teed off in threesomes at nine o'clock this morning for the first of the 18-hole qualifying rounds.

Local followers of the New Castle team are pinning their hopes on Emil Mancine, who shot a 71 over the South Park course Saturday. This is one under par, and if he continues to shoot this brand of golf will be in the running.

The local team is composed of Mancine, Willie Grommes, Roger Molesworth, Jimmy Fagley and Izzy Solomon.

The Mahonings tallied three in the first and the Polish boys accounted for two runs. Three more for the Mahonings in the fifth and two more in the eighth spelled doom for the Polish boys.

Beaver Found In Neshannock Creek

Beaver in Lawrence county! It is true, according to Harry Lawrence, deputy fish warden, who informed The News-Sunday that one is present in the Neshannock creek one-half mile above Castle beach. Deputy Lawrence reports that he walked within three feet of the beaver a few nights ago. He was fishing at the time.

He believes the beaver has been there about a month as plenty of alder and willows have been cut and have been laid in the water. The beaver, according to Lawrence, weighs between 35 and 40 pounds. Beavers are protected under the laws of Pennsylvania.

FUTURE MAJOR LEAGUERS

The International League this season could form a team of young players which in a year or two may be an All-Star aggregation of major league players.

All of the players mentioned below appear to be ready for major league service.

Hollingsworth, p. Toronto
Kleinke, p. Rochester

Blanton, p. Albany
Glenn, c. Newark

Most of these players are out on option or have strong strings attached to them so have a pretty good idea where they will receive their 1935 trials. Abernathy, Powell, and Molesworth, however, should have several clubs dickering for them.

He is now back in harness and apparently has not lost his batting eye. Not far behind Mize is McQuinn, Toronto first baseman, who belongs to the Yanks.

Tom Carey's regular position is short but he has been moved to second to make room for Molesworth. Tom will be 26 in October so should be ready to stick this time. He is hitting at a .318 clip for Rochester.

Keith Molesworth is probably better known as a football star than a baseball player. For a number of years he has been the quarterback of the Chicago Bears, 1933 National Professional Champions. Though he is a little weak at the plate, a number of scouts are trailing him.

John Kroner, 25 year old St. Louis Boy, was picked up by the Phillies last fall as a free agent. His .329 batting average at Baltimore should warrant a further trial for him.

Abernathy, Powell, and Sington give the outfield tremendous power at the plate. Woodley Abernathy, 200 pound, 6 foot 2 giant, is batting .317. At 25 years of age, with previous experience in the Southern and Southeastern leagues, he should be ready for the majors. Alvin Powell is leading the majors with a .380 average. Fred Sington, his teammate, is batting .368. Fred is a former All-American tackle at Alabama.

Beaver Found In Neshannock Creek

Beaver in Lawrence county! It is true according to Harry Lawrence, deputy fish warden, who informed The News Saturday that one is present in the Neshannock creek one-half mile above Castle beach.

Deputy Lawrence reports that he walked within three feet of the beaver a few nights ago. He was fishing at the time.

He believes the beaver has been there about a month as plenty of alder and willows have been cut and have been laid in the water.

The beaver, according to Lawrence, weighs between 35 and 40 pounds.

Beavers are protected under the laws of Pennsylvania.

Hauser Suffers Fractured Knee

Slugging Joe Hauser Will Be Out Of Game For Rest Of Season

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—Slugging Joe Hauser's well-laid plan to set a new home run record was shattered today.

The Minneapolis first baseman was in a hospital here, his knee in a cast. He suffered a fractured kneecap in the first inning of a game between Minneapolis and Kansas City yesterday when he was struck by a batted ball as he rounded third base. He will be lost to the Millers for the remainder of the season.

Giants Split With Phillies

Carl Hubbell Holds Phils Safe After Giants Drop First Game

INDIANS WIN TWO FROM ST. LOUIS

International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Winning crucial ball games is a serious and difficult matter for most big league managers, but for Master Will Terry of the world's champion New York Giants the problem is simplicity itself. When Terry feels that he simply has to win a specific game he calls upon Carl Hubbell to do the pitching and the thing is settled. After 32,000 disappointed spectators saw the Giants drop a 4-2 decision to the Phillies, Terry sent Hubbell to the mound for the second game of a doubleheader and Carl not only blanked the Quakers, but held them to four scattered hits. The score was 2-0. The victory enabled the Giants to maintain a 3½ game advantage over the second place Chicago Cubs.

Cubs-Reds Split.
The Cubs, playing at Cincinnati, were held to an even break by the Reds, making their first appearance under the leadership of Chuck Dressen, late of Nashville. The Cubs, behind Pat Malone, won the first game 7 to 3, but in the finale the Rhinelanders got excellent pitching from Tony Freitas and emerged on top by a score of 4 to 2.

At Pittsburgh, Jimmy Collins' 23rd home run of the season was the vital factor in the defeat of the Pirates by the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 5.

The hapless Brooklyn Dodgers are in seventh place today as a result of the double headed handed them by the Boston Braves at Ebbets field, Brooklyn. In the first game Ed Brandt outpitched Van Mungo, the set of the Dodgers' first, while in the second game Ed Brandt held the Stengel men to one lone hit and as a result won a sweet 1-0 victory over Johnny Babich.

Indians Win Two.
In the American League Mickey Cochrane's astonishing Tigers split a double-header with the Chicago White Sox, and as a result now enjoy a full game lead over the Yankees.

The Yankees, after a disastrous tour of the west, wound up a lengthy trip in Philadelphia by dropping a game to the seventh place Athletics, 6-3.

Boro A. C. Tops Wampum 5 To 2

Boro A. C. topped the Wampum team of the Independent league at the Lehigh field by a score of 5 to 2. Bigley held the Wampumites to six hits and fanned four men. Boro had nine hits off of Ferrucci. Tanner, Grednick and Price hit the ball hard.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAXER, JR.

FUTURE MAJOR LEAGUERS
The International League this season could form a team of young players which in a year or two may be an All-Star aggregation of major leaguers. All of the players mentioned below appear to be ready for major league service.

Hollingsworth, p., Toronto
Kleinke, p., Rochester
Schott, p., Toronto
Blanton, p., Albany
Glenn, c., Newark
Mize, 1b., Rochester
Corey, 2b., Rochester
Molesworth, ss., Baltimore
Kroner, 3b., Baltimore
Powell, of., Albany
Abernathy, of., Baltimore
Sington, of., Albany

Most of these players are out on option or have strong strings attached to them so have a pretty good idea where they will receive their 1935 trial. Abernathy, Powell, and Molesworth, however, should have several clubs dickering for them.

Hollingsworth and Schott belong to Cincinnati, and with the Red pitting staff such as it is there should be plenty of room for both of them. Hollingsworth is the south paw who recently defeated the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition game. Gene Schott is a 21 year old right-hander who hails from Cincinnati. Pittsburgh may not wait until the end of the season to recall Cy Blanton who is hanging up quite a strike-out record. Cy isn't very hefty but manages to show quite a bit of speed. Kleinke has come up the Cardinal ladder. He should reach the top rung next season.

Joe Schott was good enough to catch for many major league teams this season but he had the misfortune to have the Yankee backstop Dickey and Jorgens, ahead of him. He is certain to be up again for another trial.

Johnny Mize is a hard hitting first baseman who should prove valuable to the Cardinals. However, Johnny has suffered injuries which have laid him up most of the season. He is now back in harness and apparently has not lost his batting eye. Spot for behind Mize is McQuinn, Toronto first baseman, who belongs to the Yankees.

Tom Carey's regular position is short but he has been moved to second to make room for Molesworth. Tom will be 26 in October so should be ready to stick this time. He is hitting over a .218 clip for Rochester.

Keith Molesworth is probably better known as a football star than a baseball player. For a number of years he has been the quarterback of the Chicago Bears, 1933 National Professional champions. Though he is a little weak at the plate, a number of scouts are trailing him.

John Kroner, 25 year old St. Louis boy, was picked up by the Phillies last fall as a free agent. His .329 batting average at Baltimore should warrant a further trial for him.

Abernathy, Powell, and Sington give the outfield tremendous power at the plate. Woodley Abernathy, 260 pound, 6 foot 2 giant, is batting .317 at 25 years of age, with previous experience in the Southern and Eastern leagues, he should be ready for the majors. Alvin Powell is leading the league with a .380 average. Fred Sington's teammate, is batting .368. Fred is a former All-American tackle at Alabama.

Is Resumed As Market
Opens Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 30.—Liquidation was resumed in the stock market today after the breathing spell at the close of the week and prices broke 1 to 3 points.

Trading turned moderately active on the decline and little support was apparent. Firmness in grains and the calmer news from abroad were ignored.

Breaks in individual issues unsettled the market after a fairly firm start. Chrysler was driven down in the early dealings, losing around 2 points. Sears Roebuck followed, off nearly 3 points.

Then came a flurry of selling in U. S. Smelting, which tumbled 3 points, and in American Telephone, driven down more than 2 points to a new low for the year.

This led to selling pressure on the list and the market developed a weak tone.

HITTER IN GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, July 30.—Shelby Social club baseball team of Ellwood City has a strangle hold on the championship of the second half of the Beaver County league as a result of their 5-4 victory at New Brighton Saturday afternoon.

The Ellwoodians are undefeated in this half as yet. Their nearest rivals, New Brighton and Beaver, have two defeats to date. Ellwood bested the latter team earlier last week.

One of the features of the game was the heavy hitting of Sam Neff who connected for a triple and two singles, which accounted for most of the runs. Dicky Friedhoff acquired two hits. Ellwood scored four runs in the first inning. New Brighton got two in the first and two in the fifth to deadlock the score. Barry, Hamilton and Schackren were best for the losers, getting three, two and two hits, respectively.

The locals are scheduled for three games this week. On Wednesday they invade Koppel. On Saturday they play the Ellwood City Merchants of Keweenaw as part of the Community Picnic program. New Brighton will be the attraction here on Sunday afternoon.

Liquidation In Some Stocks Is Resumed As Market Opens Today

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 30.—Liquidation was resumed in the stock market today after the breathing spell at the close of the week and prices broke 1 to 3 points.

Trading turned moderately active on the decline and little support was apparent. Firmness in grains and the calmer news from abroad were ignored.

Breaks in individual issues unsettled the market after a fairly firm start. Chrysler was driven down in the early dealings, losing around 2 points. Sears Roebuck followed, off nearly 3 points.

Then came a flurry of selling in U. S. Smelting, which tumbled 3 points, and in American Telephone, driven down more than 2 points to a new low for the year.

This led to selling pressure on the list and the market developed a weak tone.

Commanding Lead Held By Ellwood In Ball League

Tubers Break 4-4 Deadlock In Last Inning To Defeat New Brighton

NEFF IS HEAVY HITTER IN GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, July 30.—Shelby Social club baseball team of Ellwood City has a strangle hold on the championship of the second half of the Beaver County league as a result of their 5-4 victory at New Brighton Saturday afternoon.

The Ellwoodians are undefeated in this half as yet. Their nearest rivals, New Brighton and Beaver, have two defeats to date. Ellwood bested the latter team earlier last week.

One of the features of the game was the heavy hitting of Sam Neff who connected for a triple and two singles, which accounted for most of the runs. Dicky Friedhoff acquired two hits. Ellwood scored four runs in the first inning. New Brighton got two in the first and two in the fifth to deadlock the score. Barry, Hamilton and Schackren were best for the losers, getting three, two and two hits, respectively. Ellwood scored a run in the last inning to win the game.

The locals are scheduled for three games this week. On Wednesday they invade Koppel. On Saturday they play the Ellwood City Merchants at Ewing park as part of the Community Picnic program. New Brighton will be the attraction here on Sunday afternoon.

Corn Roast At Boy Scout Camp

Boys Entertain Committee And Parents—Are Thriving On Camp Life

Visitors to "Camp Forker," the Mahoningtown Boy Scout camp along the Hickory creek below Rock, report the boys are getting along fine. Most of them are gaining weight and thick coats of tan. On Friday night of last week they had a corn roast, with members of the Boy Scout committee of Mahoningtown and the parents of the boys as special guests. Assistant Scoutmaster Charles Dungan told the assemblage during the evening a few very interesting facts about Indian lore, speaking of Flat Rock and the use to which it was put by Indians of the district at one time. The boys gave an Indian war dance and short play for the entertainment of the guests. Boys at the camp are: Robert Walter, James Walter, Junior Dripps, Junior Reed, Samuel Davy, Francis Brookman, Albert Moss, Oliver Kerr, Benny Felosi, Hallett Johnston, Teddy Metzler and Robert Wilkinson. In charge are Scoutmaster Charles Blotie and Assistant Charles Dungan.

It will be the ninth annual reunion of those classmates of yesterday who attended the old school before it was destroyed by fire fifteen or twenty years ago, and the committee anticipates the best reunion of all. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. at Cascade park and a program will follow. On the general committee are: Frank E. Baker, Harry L. Leiser, Mrs. Robert Magill, Bessie Coates-Pitzer and Robert Shesby.

SHOWS HORSE SENSE

It just goes to prove that horses really do have horse sense. When a horse at the Black farm, North Beaver township became sick in the early hours of Saturday morning, it trotted over the Gleeland Mill road to the next door neighbor—a druggist. John C. McMillin heard a strange noise at the front of his home, and investigating, found a horse lying on the lawn, sick with colic. McMillin went back inside, mixed a stiff dose of bicarbonate of soda, lifted up the horse's head and declared him down it. Another dose and a third. The horse was much better and was willingly led back home.

FINISHING UP

Workmen are today finishing up the project of resurfacing Cedar street from Mahoning avenue to East Cherry street. The final layer of asphalt is being laid and rolled on the last strip of the job in front of the office of Alderman H. G. Coates.

N. CASTLE LADY NO LONGER HAS DIZZY, WEAK, FAINTING SPELLS

Tells How Medicine Vendol Worked Off Her Liver, Relieved Constipation And Built Up Her Whole System.

"I had stomach trouble for ten years and have taken different medicines at times, but I have received more benefit from Vendol than anything I ever took," declared Mrs. Rosa Sygowski of 10 Miller Street, New Castle.

"When my stomach would have an upset, I would feel weak, dizzy and fainty. Once or twice I even fell over and had to lie there until I came to myself. Sometimes I would have these spells during the night."

"I really believe that the cause of my troubles came from a weak stomach and constipation. At times my stomach was sore from the gas and the pains caused by poor digestion. The gas pressed around my heart, causing shortness of breath. I often had a dry mouth and would drink a lot of water, trying to stop this."

"I found it hard to go to sleep at night, then in the morning I would feel all tired out and nervous. I just dragged around the house all day long."

Roque is a game somewhat similar to croquet but demands some of the technique of golfing and billiards. It has a large host of followers in many states of the union.

Larger meals and sleep better, as it seems that my whole system has been toned up.

"I never have those dizzy spells any more and no matter what I eat, it seems to digest and does not fill me up with gas as before. Even the pains and soreness have disappeared from my stomach."

"I have advised a number of my friends to try Vendol and never miss a chance to speak a good word for this medicine."

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS

Editor, The Farm Journal
Written For Central Press

AGRICULTURE should be, and is greatly interested in the decision of the government to establish a thousand-mile "shelter belt" of forest land across the country from the Canadian border to Texas.

In an administration partial to grandiose enterprises, not all of which have been successful, here is one that is surely grandiose enough to please anybody. Perhaps, however, "grandiose" is not the word, since it implies an element of impracticability. There is nothing impracticable about planting trees, if the money to do it is made available.

Naturalists, historians and statesmen have long speculated about the grass country of the prairie states and the high plains. Here was excellent soil, some rainfall at least, but no trees except along the streams. Why were there no trees? Was it the grazing of wild animals forest fires and prairie fires, high winds and extremes of temperature, drought or what? There are a number of theories, none of them entirely satisfactory, and which is the real reason nobody knows.

The fact remains, that it has been a treeless country as long as the white man has known it. As "dry farming," has been developed, farmers have customarily planted local "shelter belts" to protect their houses and livestock from the strong winds. These trees have survived and grown, and that is a good sign. Evidently trees can be established there.

Whether $95,000,000 worth of trees can be established and maintained in a belt a thousand miles long and a hundred miles wide is another question. The planting of such a forest area is a huge task, even with the special machine planters which will probably have to be used.

After that, the protection of the young trees, and old trees, too for that matter, from fire and grazing cattle, is a tremendous problem. The government thinks that each belt of woodland must be completely fenced in, and no doubt it must. It is great news for wire fence manufacturers.

The belt will not be planted solidly with trees. Or, in other words, the existing forms will not be disturbed. The trees will be placed in strips, where and as it appears advantageous, and farming will go along between the strips the same as ever.

Always assuming that the trees will grow and remain—that man can do what nature apparently couldn't or wouldn't—the effect on agriculture should be good.

Farms will be more comfortable to live on, and the water supply should, on the whole, be improved. There should be less soil blowing. Furthermore, it is not impossible that the trees themselves will have the effect of intercepting moisture, and actually increasing the annual rainfall in that territory and to the east of it. Experience seems to show that large forests promote rainfall as well as save it after it has fallen.

Unless some new difficulty comes up, not now visible, the $95,000,000 shelter belt ought to do a lot of good.

Early Trading

Is Resumed As Market
Opens Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 30.—Liquidation was resumed in the stock market today after the breathing spell at the close of the week and prices broke 1 to 3 points.

Trading turned moderately active on the decline and little support was apparent. Firmness in grains and the calmer news from abroad were ignored.

Breaks in individual issues unsettled the market after a fairly firm start. Chrysler was driven down in the early dealings, losing around 2 points. Sears Roebuck followed, off nearly 3 points.

Then came a flurry of selling in U. S. Smelt, which tumbled 2 points, and in American Telephone, driven down more than 2 points to a new low for the year.

This led to selling pressure on the list and the market developed a weak tone.

ELLWOOD CITY, July 30.—Shelby Social club baseball team of Ellwood City has a strange hold on the championship of the second half of the Beaver County league as a result of their 5-4 victory at New Brighton Saturday afternoon.

The Ellwoodians are undefeated in this half as yet. Their nearest rivals, New Brighton and Beaver, have two defeats to date. Ellwood bested the latter team earlier last week.

One of the features of the game was the heavy hitting of Sam Neff who connected for a triple and two singles, which accounted for most of the runs. Dicky Friedhoff acquired two hits. Ellwood scored four runs in the first inning. New Brighton got two in the first and two in the fifth to deadlock the score. Barry Hamilton and Schack Schackner, both of whom were in the line-up, were best for the losers, getting three, two and two hits, respectively.

Ellwood scored a run in the last inning to win the game.

The locals are scheduled for three games this week. On Wednesday they invade Koppel. On Saturday they play the Ellwood City Merchants at Ewing park as part of the Community Picnic program. New Brighton will be the attraction here on Sunday afternoon.

It just goes to prove that horses really do have horse sense. When a horse at the Black farm, North Beaver township became sick in the early hours of Saturday morning, it trotted over the Cleveland Mill road to the next door neighbor—a druggist. John C. McMullin heard a strange noise at the front of his home, and investigating, found a horse lying on the lawn, sick with colic. McMullin went back inside, mixed a dose of bicarbonate of soda, lifted up the horse's head and made him down it. Another dose and a third. The horse was much better and was willingly led back home.

N. CASTLE LADY NO LONGER HAS DIZZY, WEAK, FAINTING SPELLS

"I had stomach trouble for ten years and have taken different medicines at times, but I have received more benefit from Vendol than anything I ever took," declared Mrs. Rose Syglowski of 10 Miller Street, New Castle. "When my stomach would have an upset, I would feel weak, dizzy and faint. Once or twice I even fell over and had to lie there until I came to myself. Sometimes I would have these spells during the night. "I really believe that the cause of my troubles came from a weak stomach and constipation. At times my stomach was sore from the gas and the pains caused by poor digestion. The gas pressed around my heart, causing shortness of breath. I often had a dry mouth and would drink a lot of water, trying to stop this. "I found it hard to go to sleep at night, then in the morning I would feel all tired out and nervous. I just dragged around the house all day long. "I read in the paper how Vendol was helping a lot of people right here in town, so I started taking it several weeks ago, and it certainly has done me a lot of good. I find that I have more strength, I eat

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written For Central Press

AGRICULTURE should be, and is, greatly interested in the decision of the government to establish a thousand-mile "shelter belt" of forest land across the country from the Canadian border to Texas. In an administration partial to grandiose enterprises, not all of which have been successful, here is one that is surely grandiose enough to please anybody.

Perhaps, however, "grandiose" is not the word, since it implies an element of impracticability. There is nothing impracticable about planting trees, if the money to do it is made available.

Naturalists, historians and statesmen have long speculated about the grass country of the prairie states and the high plains. Here was excellent soil, some rainfall at least, but no trees except along the streams. Why were there no trees? Was it the grazing of wild animals forest fires and prairie fires, high winds and extremes of temperature, drought or what? There are a number of theories, none of them the real reason, and which is the fact remains, that it has been a treeless country as long as the white man has known it. As "dry farming," has been developed, farmers have customarily planted local "shelter belts" to protect their houses and livestock from the strong winds. These trees have survived and grown, and that is a good sign. Evidently trees can be established there.

Whether $95,000,000 worth of trees can be established and maintained in a belt a thousand miles long and a hundred miles wide is another question. The planting of such a forest area is a huge task, even with the special machine planters which will probably have to be used. After that, the protection of the young trees, and old trees, too for that matter, from fire and grazing cattle, is a tremendous problem. The government thinks that each belt of woodland must be completely fenced in, and no doubt it must. It is great news for wire fence manufacturers.

The belt will not be planted solidly with trees. Or, in other words, the existing forms will not be disturbed. The trees will be placed in strips, where and as it appears advantageous, and farming will go along between the strips the same as ever.

Always assuming that the trees will grow and remain—that man can do what nature apparently couldn't or wouldn't—the effect on agriculture should be good. Farms will be more comfortable to live on, and the water supply should, on the whole, be improved. There should be less soil blowing. Furthermore, it is not impossible that the trees themselves will have the effect of intercepting moisture, and actually increasing the annual rainfall in that territory and to the east of it. Experience seems to show that large forests promote rainfall as well as save it after it has fallen. Unless some new difficulty comes up, not now visible, the $95,000,000 shelter belt ought to do a lot of good.
